Considered one of the best centers to ever play the game of basketball, and a member of the Warriors organization for more than four decades as both a player and a community relations ambassador, Nate Thurmond passed away on July 16, 2016, in San Francisco at the age of 74 after a short battle with leukemia.

Thurmond was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1985 and was voted one of the 50 Greatest Players in NBA history in 1996. A seven-time NBA All-Star, he earned NBA All-Defensive First or Second Team accolades five times. His Warriors jersey #42 was retired on March 8, 1978, one of six players to have his number retired by the Warriors along with Alvin Attles (#16), Rick Barry (#24), Wilt Chamberlain (#13), Tom Meschery (#14) and Chris Mullin (#17).

Over a 14 year NBA career – the first 11 of which were played with the San Francisco and Golden State Warriors – Thurmond held averages of 15.0 points and 15.0 rebounds per game, including averaging 20.5 points and 22.0 rebounds during the 1967-68 campaign to join Wilt Chamberlain as the only Warriors to post at least 20 points and 20 boards in a single season. "Big Nate," who was selected third overall by the San Francisco Warriors in the 1963 NBA Draft following his collegiate career at Bowling Green, remains the franchise's all-time leader in rebounds (12,771) and minutes played (30,729). Thurmond became the first player to record an official quadruple-double, tallying 22 points, 14 rebounds, 13 assists and 12 blocks as a member of the Chicago Bulls against the Atlanta Hawks on October 18, 1974.

Following his illustrious NBA playing career, Thurmond returned to San Francisco, where he and his wife, Marci, made their home. In addition to spending more than 30 years as a valued asset to the Warriors' community relations department, Thurmond was the longtime co-owner of "Big Nate's Barbecue" restaurant in The City.

The Warriors organization is deeply saddened by Thurmond's passing, and the team will wear a #42 patch on their uniforms for every game this season in honor of the all-time great.

JOE LACOB
Owner & CEO

In his role as Owner & CEO, Joe Lacob is the managing member of the Golden State Warriors' ownership group. Currently in his seventh year as Warriors owner, he serves on the NBA Board of Governors and is a member of the league's Competition Committee, Planning Committee and Labor Committee.

In 2014-15, Lacob's fifth season as owner, the Warriors posted a then-franchise-record 67 wins during the regular season and captured the team's first NBA Championship in 40 years. This marked the first time in 20 years, since the Houston Rockets in 1994 & 1995, that an ownership group had captured an NBA title within its first five years after taking control of the franchise. The championship campaign came in the midst of the most successful four-year run in Warriors history, as the club has posted franchise-record 238 regular-season victories over the last four seasons – including an NBA-record 73 wins in 2015-16. The Warriors have made four-straight playoff appearances for the first time since doing so in each of the NBA's first six seasons in existence from 1946-47 through 1951-52. Prior to the last four seasons, the club had only made the playoffs once in the previous 18 years.

The franchise's success in recent years has also extended to the business side. In 2014 and again in 2016, the Warriors were named "Sports Team of the Year" by the Sports Business Journal/Daily in recognition of the organization's innovative and successful business practices. This marks the first time that any professional team has won this prestigious sports business award more than once. Additionally, under Lacob's guidance, the Warriors were named the 2016 winner of the Entrepreneurial Company of the Year (ENCORE) Award by the Stanford University Graduate School of Business in recognition of the organization's entrepreneurial spirit in redefining sports management, pioneering the use of sports analytics in the NBA, and adopting new technologies that have transformed the fan experience. The Warriors are the first sports organization to win the ENCORE Award, which has been presented annually since 1977 to recognize best in class entrepreneurial companies from around the world, including such recent winners as Google (2004), Apple (2005), and Amazon (2010).

In addition to the Warriors' organization-wide honors, Lacob was named the 2016 recipient of the Sports Executive of the Year award by the Sports Business Journal/Daily. He was also named one of the Bay Area's Most Admired CEO's by the San Francisco Business Times in November of 2015.

Since making a then-record-setting bid to purchase his hometown NBA club – a longtime dream of the Atherton resident – and assuming control of the team on November 12, 2010, Lacob has been the driving force behind many of the creative changes that have transpired with the organization, including several major announcements, prominent personnel additions and an emphasis on transparency. Additionally, since its inception in 2012, the revamped Warriors Community Foundation has awarded nearly $4 million in grants – one of the top figures in the NBA – to local school districts and non-profits serving at-risk and vulnerable students.

In October 2015, the Warriors completed the purchase of 12 acres of land in San Francisco's Mission Bay neighborhood, where the team intends to build Chase Center, a new state-of-the-art sports and entertainment center. In addition to making monumental commitments to the team's future, Lacob has taken an active role in connecting the current Warriors organization with its rich history. In 2012, Lacob saw to it that one of the most beloved players in franchise history, Chris Mullin, received the honor of having his #17 jersey raised to the rafters at Oracle Arena, becoming the sixth player in franchise history to have his number retired.

During his first full offseason as owner in the summer of 2011, Lacob recruited two of the most experienced, successful and respected individuals in NBA circles to join the organization, landing NBA Hall of Famer and basketball icon Jerry West as an executive board member, and hiring longtime league and team executive Rick Welts as president and chief operating officer. Additionally, Lacob played a significant role in the hiring of successful sports agent Bob Myers, who is now the club's president of basketball operations/general manager and was named NBA Executive of the Year following the Warriors' championship season of 2014-15.

Lacob's NBA and professional sports experience dates back over two decades, including a five-year tenure as minority owner of the Boston Celtics, where he served on the basketball committee. He earned an NBA Championship ring in 2008 with the storied franchise before selling his minority stake to purchase the Warriors.

Lacob began his career at Menlo Park, California, based Kleiner Perkins Caufield & Byers in 1987. Though still a strategic advisor to the firm, he has relinquished his managing partner role in order to pursue his lifelong goal of owning and operating an NBA team. In his role as a venture capitalist, he has led investments in over 50 start-up companies across multiple fields in life sciences and medical technologies, the internet and energy.

Lacob earned a bachelor's in Biological Sciences from the University of California-Irvine, a master's in Public Health (Epidemiology) from UCLA and an M.B.A. from the Stanford Graduate School of Business. He credits his master's degree in Epidemiology (biostatistics) with providing him a background in statistics that helped drive his passion for sports. It also played a role in his decision to invest in Sportsline – one of the first sports internet sites – and one of Lacob's earliest sports success stories. He was also a primary investor and pioneer of the American Basketball League, a professional women's basketball league that eventually lost out to the WNBA. Lacob continues as one of the original partners in the Pebble Beach Company, an effort formed to bring the historic Pebble Beach resort and golf course back to long-term American ownership. Additionally, Lacob has been involved with Stanford basketball for over 25 years and is a fixture in his courtside seats at Maples Pavilion. Lacob currently serves on the Board of Directors of one public company, Align Technology, as well as several other privately-held companies, including NeuroPace, SunDrop Fuels, and Athos, a wearable technology startup in athletic wear.

In recent years, Lacob has been involved in industry organizations including the American Heart Association and the AHA Roundtable. He has also been very active at Stanford University, serving on advisory boards at the medical center, business school and athletic department. Lacob's philanthropic interests focus on education, both in the community and with universities. In 2014, he gifted $1 million to Washington University in St. Louis to establish a new Sports Management program at the Olin Business School. He has also provided scholarships to a number of high potential academic and athletic high school and college students in need.

An avid golfer, Joe has been a longtime participant in the AT&T National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach. He has played in a regular pick-up basketball game, and still does, at least twice weekly for over 30 years at Stanford. Most importantly for Warriors fans, Lacob has been a passionate fan of the Bay Area club that he now owns – supporting his local franchise as a loyal and dedicated Season Ticket Holder since 1998.

Joe Lacob accepts the 2016 ENCORE Award on behalf of the Golden State Warriors organization. The award, which is given annually by the Stanford University Graduate School of Business, recognizes best in class entrepreneurial companies from around the world.

PETER GUBER

Owner

Peter Guber, a prominent figure in the entertainment industry for over 30 years, is currently in his seventh season as owner of the Golden State Warriors. As co-managing partner, he and Joe Lacob were the driving forces behind the current ownership group's bid to purchase the Warriors in 2010. In 2015, the Warriors captured the organization's first NBA Championship in 40 years and last season the club established an all-time NBA wins record with 73 regular-season victories, making a second-straight appearance in the NBA Finals to culminate the most successful four-year run in franchise history. Additionally, the Warriors were named "Sports Team of the Year" by the Sports Business Journal/Daily in 2014 and 2016 in recognition of the organization's innovative and successful business practices, becoming the first team to win the prestigious award more than once.

Guber brings lifelong experience in sports and location-based entertainment, recognizing the importance of enhancing every aspect of fan experience. In May 2012, Guber joined Lacob, then-NBA Commissioner David Stern and San Francisco Mayor Edwin Lee in announcing the Warriors' intention to build a privately financed sports and entertainment complex in San Francisco. That vision took a giant leap forward when, in April of 2014, the Warriors announced the purchase of land in The City's Mission Bay neighborhood where the team intends to build Chase Center, its new state-of-the-art sports and entertainment venue.

One of the most successful executives and entrepreneurs in the entertainment and communications industries, Guber's impressive resume includes serving as the Chairman & CEO of Sony Pictures Entertainment, President of Columbia Pictures, Chairman and CEO of Polygram Entertainment and Co-Owner and Co-Chairman of Casablanca Record & Filmworks. Among the films he personally produced or executive produced are Rain Man (Academy Award - Best Picture), Batman, The Color Purple, Midnight Express, Gorillas in the Mist, The Witches of Eastwick, Missing and Flashdance. Guber's personal movies have earned over $3 billion worldwide, while also garnering more than 50 Academy Award nominations.

Guber is the Founder and CEO of Mandalay Entertainment, a visionary multimedia venture spanning movies, TV, sports, and digital media. Mandalay's feature films include Soul Surfer, The Kids Are All Right, Bernie, Donnie Brasco, and Sleepy Hollow, among many others.

Guber expanded Mandalay into a national entertainment sports provider where he currently serves as Chairman of the Board of Directors and is the Managing Director of Mandalay Baseball LLC, a joint venture with ownership of the Los Angeles Dodgers that recently acquired the Triple-A affiliated Minor League Baseball franchise in Oklahoma City, and commencing with the 2015 baseball season, became the Triple-A affiliate of the Dodgers.

Guber, together with Guggenheim Group and Magic Johnson, acquired the Los Angeles Dodgers in May 2012. Under their ownership, the franchise has won the 2013, 2014 and 2016 National League West championships. He is also an owner and Chairman of Dick Clark Productions, a leading independent producer of television programming including such perennial hits as the American Music Awards, Golden Globe Awards, Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve, and So You Think You Can Dance.

In October of 2014, Peter Guber became the owner and executive chairman of Major League Soccer's Los Angeles Football Club (LAFC). LAFC is scheduled to debut in 2018 in the Banc of California Stadium, the first new open-air stadium built in the city of Los Angeles since Dodger Stadium in 1962.

Guber is Chairman of Mandalay Sports Media, a partnership with Mike Tollin, an Emmy and Peabody Award-winning film and television producer/director, and CAA Sports, the world's leading athlete representation agency.

In September of 2016, Guber and Ted Leonsis led an ownership group in the purchase of the controlling interest in Team Liquid, one of the most successful global esports team franchises. Team Liquid competes at the highest level in global tournaments including StarCraft 2, League of Legends, Dota 2, Hearthstone, CS:GO, Heroes of the Storm, Overwatch, Halo, Street Fighter, and SSBM.

Guber is a full professor at UCLA, teaching at the Anderson School of Management and the School of Theater, Film, Television, and Digital Media. He is a member of the UCLA Foundation Board of Trustees, as well as the winner of UCLA's prestigious Service Award for his accomplishments in association with the school. Guber is the founding member of the Board of Advisors for the Center for Managing Enterprises in Media, Entertainment & Sports (MEMES) at the UCLA Anderson School of Management.

Guber served as the co-host of the critically acclaimed television show, Shootout, for six years on American Movie Classics cable network. AMC moved Guber's talents to prime time with Story Makers, a series of one hour specials on the cable network. Guber was most recently seen on Starz/Encore as co-host of In the House, a weekly news and interview show focusing on industry trends in pop culture. He can currently be seen as an Entertainment and Media Analyst on Fox Business News.

A noted author, Guber's third book, Tell To Win - Connect, Persuade, and Triumph with the Hidden Power of Story, was published by Crown Business on March 1, 2011, and became an instant #1 New York Times bestseller. Fortune magazine chose Tell To Win as one of its "5 Business Books You Can Really Use" and Hudson Booksellers, retail book stores in airports throughout North America, chose Tell To Win as one of the "5 Best Business Books of the Year." Tell to Win is in its 13th printing.

Guber was recruited by Columbia Pictures out of NYU's Graduate School of Business, where he was pursuing an MBA. He holds a BA, Master of Law and Juris Doctorate degrees. He received his honorary doctorate in Fine Arts from the University of Connecticut; was named Albert Gallatin Fellow at New York University; is a recipient of Syracuse University's George Arents Pioneer Award, the highest honor that can be given to an alumnus, for his distinguished work in film; and is also a recipient of USC's Dean's Award for National Business Leadership.

Peter Guber presents Stephen Curry with his 2015 NBA Championship ring as part of a pregame ceremony on Opening Night last season.

BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

BOB MYERS

President of Basketball Operations / General Manager

Bob Myers is currently in his fifth season as general manager of the Golden State Warriors and, this season, adds the title of president of basketball operations. In this role, he reports directly to Owner & CEO Joe Lacob and oversees the entire Basketball Operations department on a day-to-day basis. Myers was originally named GM on April 24, 2012.

Myers, 41, earned the 2014-15 NBA Executive of the Year award for constructing a roster that won a then-franchise-record 67 regular-season games (67-15, .817) and won the 2015 NBA Championship – the fourth title in franchise history. Last season, the Warriors followed up their championship by winning an NBA-record 73 regular-season games (73-9, .890) and earning a second-straight Western Conference Championship before falling in seven games in the NBA Finals.

During his tenure as general manager the Warriors have enjoyed their most successful stretch in franchise history, posting a .726 winning percentage (238-90), which is the second-best record in the NBA over that stretch behind only the San Antonio Spurs (.738). Additionally, the Warriors have earned four-straight trips to the NBA Playoffs for the first time since doing so in each of the NBA's first six seasons in existence from 1946-47 through 1951-52. Prior to the last four seasons, the club had only made the playoffs once in the previous 18 years.

Myers originally joined the Warriors on April 14, 2011, as assistant general manager/vice president of basketball operations, after enjoying a highly successful 14-year stint as a representative to numerous NBA players. During his first year with the Warriors organization, he worked closely under the tutelage of then-General Manager Larry Riley on all Basketball Operations matters, including contract negotiations, talent evaluation, roster management, scouting and CBA compliance.

Before joining the Warriors, Myers spent the previous five years at Wasserman Media Group (WMG) in Los Angeles. As managing executive at WMG, which is one of the largest global sports and entertainment companies in the world, Myers represented a client list of nearly 20 NBA players in their team and endorsement contracts.

Prior to joining Wasserman, Myers served as vice president of SFX Sports, where he represented numerous NBA players. Myers began his career in the sports representation business in 1997 as an intern at Los Angeles-based Tellem and Associates – under the tutelage of long-time sports agent Arn Tellem – which became SFX Sports in 2000. During his 14 years in the business, Myers negotiated over $575 million in contracts.

With a well-earned reputation as one of the top player agents in the NBA, Myers was a recipient of the prestigious "40 under 40" Award in 2011, presented annually by the SportsBusiness Journal to the 40 most influential sports executives under the age of 40.

A Bay Area native who attended Monte Vista High School in Danville, Myers graduated from UCLA in 1998 with a degree in Business/Economics. As a member of the UCLA basketball team, Myers and the Bruins captured the 1995 NCAA Championship during his sophomore season and advanced to the 1997 Elite Eight two years later.

A member of the State Bar of California, Myers earned his Juris Doctorate from Loyola Law School in 2002. He and his wife, Kristen, have two daughters, Kayla and Annabelle.

TRAVIS SCHLENK

Vice President of Basketball Operations / Assistant General Manager

Travis Schlenk, 42, is in his 13th season with the Golden State Warriors, and his first as vice president of basketball operations. In this role, Schlenk reports directly to President of Basketball Operations/ General Manager Bob Myers and assists in the management of all day-to-day basketball operations, including all player-related matters. Schlenk also continues to serve as assistant general manager, a title he has held for each of the past five seasons.

With more than 17 years of experience in the NBA, Schlenk has held jobs at virtually every level of basketball operations, including positions in the video room, on the bench, scouting and in the front office.

Prior to being named assistant general manager before the 2011-12 season, Schlenk spent the previous two seasons as the team's director of player personnel. In that role he assisted in all player personnel matters, while also assisting with trade & free agent discussions, player contracts, salary cap analysis and adherence to Collective Bargaining Agreement rules and regulations.

Before joining the team's front office, Schlenk spent five years as an assistant coach and video scout for the Warriors. His duties in that role included the preparation of scouting reports for the coaching staff and players, assisting on-court at practice sessions and working with players on individual skill development. Additionally, Schlenk has also assisted with the team's advance scouting duties.

Schlenk joined the Warriors prior to the 2004-05 season as a video scout after spending the previous four years as the video coordinator for the Miami Heat. Prior to joining the Heat, he was an assistant coach at the University of Georgia during the 1998-99 season under Ron Jirsa. Schlenk's introduction to the NBA came as a member of the Orlando Magic's basketball operations staff during the 1997-98 campaign.

A native of Selden, Kansas, Schlenk earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Health Management & Human Ecology from Bethel College, where he was also a member of the school's basketball team. After graduation from Bethel, he received a Masters of Education with an emphasis in Sports Administration from Wichita State University.

Travis and his wife, Sarah, currently reside in Oakland with their daughters, Morgan and Charlotte, and son, Will.

KIRK LACOB

Vice President of GSW Sports Ventures / Assistant General Manager

Kirk Lacob is currently in his seventh season with the Golden State Warriors, and his first as vice president of GSW Sports Ventures. He also continues to serve as assistant general manager, a position he has held for each of the past four seasons.

As the vice president of GSW Sports Ventures, Lacob is in charge of the organization's new sports ventures, including continued efforts to develop partnerships for basketball operations and leading investments for GSW in sports related areas.

In his role as assistant general manager, Lacob reports directly to President of Basketball Operations/General Manager Bob Myers and assists with all aspects of the team's day-to-day basketball operations.

Lacob joined the Warriors in October 2010 as the team's director of basketball operations. In that role he supported on a variety of front office roles, including player personnel evaluation, draft preparation and scouting, as well as helping to further the use of statistics and technologies in basketball operations. He also served two years (2011-13) as the team's player development representative with the league office, coordinating and implementing programs to aid in the overall development of players both on and off the court.

Additionally, Lacob served as the general manager of Golden State's NBA Development League team for three seasons from 2011-2014. He also played a vital role in the team's relocation to Santa Cruz from its former home in Bismarck, North Dakota, prior to the 2012-13 season. The transition has been an overwhelming success as the Santa Cruz Warriors appeared in the D-League Finals in each of their first three seasons in Northern California, culminating in the team's first Championship in 2015. In 2013-14, Santa Cruz was named the league's Development Champion, an annual award recognizing the NBA D-League team that best embodies the league's goals of developing NBA basketball talent via GATORADE Call-Ups and assignments.

A native of Woodside, CA, Lacob graduated from Stanford University in 2010 with a degree in Science, Technology and Society. Lacob is active in local basketball leagues and on occasion plays at San Quentin State Penitentiary. He is a lifelong fan of the San Francisco 49ers, Oakland A's, San Francisco Giants, all things Stanford Cardinal and, most importantly, the Golden State Warriors.

LARRY HARRIS

Assistant General Manager / Director of Player Personnel

Larry Harris is currently in his ninth season with the Golden State Warriors, and his first as assistant general manager/director of player personnel. In this role, Harris serves as one of the organization's key talent evaluators of players at both the professional and collegiate levels, assisting with the team's year-round preparation for the NBA draft, free agency and trades.

Harris, 53, originally joined the Warriors in 2008 as an assistant coach under Don Nelson before moving to the front office after one season on the bench. He then served as a basketball consultant/scout for six seasons prior to being promoted to director of player personnel in 2015-16.

Prior to joining the Warriors, Harris spent 19 years with the Milwaukee Bucks, including stints as director of player personnel, director of scouting, assistant general manager and general manager. Harris' five-year tenure as general manager (2003-07) included a pair of postseason berths.

A native of Huntingburg, Indiana, Harris played collegiately at Eastern New Mexico University. His father, Del Harris, is a longtime NBA coach and executive. Larry and his wife, Gail, currently reside in Frisco, Texas. He has two sons, Zach and Garrett, and three daughters, Janaya, Brooke, and Addison.

COACHING & SUPPORT STAFF

STEVE KERR

Head Coach

Currently in his third season as an NBA head coach, Steve Kerr has guided the Golden State Warriors through two of the most prolific seasons in NBA history with a list of accomplishments that includes an NBA Championship, consecutive Western Conference Championships, the NBA's single-season wins record, an NBA Coach of the Year award, and the two winningest seasons in franchise history.

In 2014-15 Kerr engineered the most successful campaign of any first-year coach in NBA history, culminating in the Warriors winning the fourth NBA Championship in franchise history and the first in 40 years. En route to the NBA title, which was Kerr's sixth after winning five during his 15-year playing career, he led the Warriors to a then-franchise-record 67 victories, establishing NBA records for most wins and highest winning percentage (67-15, .817) by a first-year head coach.

Kerr followed his inaugural campaign by winning the 2015-16 NBA Coach of the Year Award for leading the Warriors to an NBA-record 73 wins in 2015-16 (73-9, .890), eclipsing the previous mark of 72 set by a Chicago Bulls squad in 1995-96 that featured Kerr as a key reserve. In addition to the single-season wins record, the Warriors set new league marks for single-season road wins (34), consecutive wins to begin a season (24) and consecutive regular-season home wins (54). After seeing a 16-game improvement over the previous season in 2014-15 (51-31 in 2013-14), an NBA record for the biggest improvement by a 50-win team in league history, the Warriors improved by six wins in 2015-16, joining the Chicago Bulls (1995-96 & 1996-97) as the only teams to win at least 65 games in back-to-back campaigns.

Originally named to the position on May 19, 2014, Kerr is the 25th head coach in franchise history and the 20th since the team moved to the West Coast in 1962. He is the fourth Warriors coach to win an NBA title, joining Eddie Gottlieb (1947), George Senesky (1956) and Alvin Attles (1975). He is also just the third coach in franchise history to be named Coach of the Year, joining Alex Hannum (1963-64) and Don Nelson (1991-92).

Kerr, 51, owns 28 years of NBA experience as a player, coach, television analyst and front office executive, including a three-year stint (2007-10) as president of basketball operations and general manager for the Phoenix Suns. During his time as the Suns GM, the club posted a 155-91 (.630) record and earned a pair of playoff berths, including a trip to the 2010 Western Conference Finals.

Having made the playoffs 11 times during his playing career, Kerr is one of only 26 players in NBA history to win five championships, earning three rings with Chicago and two with San Antonio. A key reserve for Chicago during the team's three-peat championship run from 1996-98, Kerr famously hit the game-winning, title-clinching shot in Game 6 of the 1997 NBA Finals. He won his fourth consecutive championship in 1999 with the San Antonio Spurs to become one of only two non-Boston Celtics to win four-straight NBA titles (joining Frank Saul, 1951-54). His fifth ring came in his second stint with the Spurs during his final NBA campaign in 2002-03.

The NBA's all-time three-point percentage leader, having converted on 45.4 percent (726-of-1599) of his attempts from long range, Kerr amassed career averages of 6.0 points, 1.8 assists and 1.2 rebounds in 910 regular-season games with the Phoenix Suns, Cleveland Cavaliers, Orlando Magic, Chicago Bulls, San Antonio Spurs (twice) and Portland Trail Blazers.

Kerr was originally selected by the Phoenix Suns in the second round (50th overall) of the 1988 NBA Draft out of the University of Arizona. Kerr capped his collegiate career as a senior in 1988 by helping lead the Wildcats to their first Final Four appearance. An All-Pac 10 guard in both 1986 and 1988, he remains the school's career leader in three-point field goal percentage (57.3 percent). Kerr was also a member of the USA Basketball team that captured the 1986 World Championship in Madrid, the last American Men's Senior Team composed strictly of amateur players to capture a gold medal.

During his playing career, Kerr played for some of the most successful coaches in the history of the game, including Phil Jackson, Gregg Popovich, Lenny Wilkens, Cotton Fitzsimmons and Lute Olson. Born in Beirut, Lebanon, and raised in Pacific Palisades, CA, Kerr was a ballboy in 1978 and 1979 at UCLA, where his late father, Malcolm, was a professor.

As a broadcaster, Kerr has served two different four-year stints as a game analyst on TNT's award-winning NBA coverage. In addition to a full slate of regular-season games, he also worked TNT's marquee events, including the NBA All-Star Game, playoffs and conference finals. During his most recent stint in broadcasting, beginning in 2010, Kerr also served as an analyst for NCAA Tournament and Final Four coverage on Turner Sports and CBS.

Kerr earned a degree in general studies from Arizona with an emphasis in history, sociology and English in 1988 and serves on the board of directors for Peace Players International, a Washington, D.C.-based organization that uses basketball as a means to bridge cultural gaps in areas of political, racial and religious conflict.

Born on September 27, 1965, Steve and his wife, Margot, have two sons, Nicholas and Matthew, and one daughter, Madeleine. Nick received his degree from the University of San Diego in 2015 and is completing his graduate studies at the University of California, Berkeley, where he played as a walk-on for the Bears' basketball team for one season. Madeleine is a senior at UC Berkeley and is a member of the volleyball team. Matthew is a freshman at the USC School of Cinematic Arts.

In October 2014, Steve and Margot Kerr committed $1 million to the University of Arizona to assist with the McKale Memorial Center renovation and future academic facility enhancements.

RON ADAMS
Assistant Coach

Ron Adams is in his third season as an assistant coach for the Golden State Warriors, his 22nd season overall on the bench as an NBA assistant. In his first two years with the Warriors, Adams has helped the team finish in the league's top-four in defensive rating both seasons, including a league-leading 98.2 rating during the club's 2014-15 Championship campaign.

Adams, 69, owns previous coaching experience with the Boston Celtics (2013-14), Chicago Bulls (2003-08, 2010-13), Oklahoma City Thunder (2008-2010), Milwaukee Bucks (1998-2003), Philadelphia 76ers (1994-96) and San Antonio Spurs (1992-94). During his time as an assistant coach, Adams has made 14 appearances in the NBA Playoffs. In addition to his coaching roles, the Laton, CA, native also served as a player personnel scout for the Portland Trail Blazers from 1996-98.

Adams joined the Warriors following a one-year stint (2013-14) with the Celtics. Prior to working in Boston, he had spent the previous three seasons on Tom Thibodeau's staff in Chicago. The Bulls made the playoffs in each of those three campaigns, including a trip to the 2011 Eastern Conference Finals. During this most recent stint with the Bulls, the team ranked in the top-three in opponent scoring each season, leading the league in the category in 2011-12.

Before joining the NBA, Adams coached collegiately for 20 years with head coaching stints at Fresno State (1986-90) and his alma mater, Fresno Pacific (1972-75). He also served as an assistant coach at U.S. International, UC Santa Barbara, UNLV and at both Fresno schools.

Additionally, Adams has coached professionally in Belgium and Japan, as well as for the Canadian national team.

Adams and his wife, Leah, have a daughter, Hayley, and a son, Jarid.

MIKE BROWN
Assistant Coach

Mike Brown, who owns more than 14 years of NBA coaching experience as both a head coach and assistant, is currently in his first season as an assistant coach for the Golden State Warriors.

Brown, 46, joined the Warriors after previously holding head coaching duties with the Cleveland Cavaliers (2005-10, 2013-14) and Los Angeles Lakers (2011-12). He owns a career record of 347-216 (.616) over eight seasons, which ranks as the 10th best winning percentage in NBA history among coaches who have registered at least 500 games at the helm. In his first stint with Cleveland, Brown led the Cavaliers to their first-ever NBA Finals appearance in 2007 and was named the NBA Coach of the Year in 2008-09 after guiding the Cavaliers to a franchise-record 66 wins. Cleveland won at least 50 games in four of Brown's first five seasons with the club, including back-to-back 60-win campaigns in 2008-09 and 2009-10 (61).

Following a five-year run with the Cavs, Brown spent the 2010-11 season as an analyst for ESPN before returning to the bench as head coach of the Lakers in 2011-12, leading the club to a Pacific Division title and a 41-25 (.621) record during the lockout shortened season. Brown returned as head coach of the Cavaliers for the 2013-14 season, where he eclipsed Lenny Wilkens' mark for most combined regular season and playoff victories in the franchise's history (347). As a head coach, Brown's teams qualified for the playoffs in six of his seven full seasons, advancing past the First Round in each appearance.

Prior to joining the Cavaliers in 2005, Brown was associate head coach of the Indiana Pacers for two seasons (2003-05) after spending three years as an assistant with the San Antonio Spurs (2001-03), where he and Warriors Head Coach Steve Kerr captured an NBA title in the final year of Kerr's playing career. Brown began his career with the Denver Nuggets in 1992, spending five seasons as a video coordinator and scout before serving as an assistant under Bernie Bickerstaff in Washington beginning in 1997.

A native of Columbus, Ohio, Brown is a graduate of the University of San Diego, where he played collegiately for two seasons after spending two years at Mesa Community College.

Mike has two sons, Elijah and Cameron.

JARRON COLLINS
Assistant Coach

Jarron Collins is in his third season on the Golden State Warriors coaching staff. He originally joined the team prior to the 2014-15 Championship campaign as a player development coach, and moved to the front of the bench beginning in 2015-16 with his promotion to assistant coach.

Collins, 37, played 10 seasons in the NBA, posting career averages of 3.9 points and 2.9 rebounds in 542 regular-season games with the Utah Jazz, Phoenix Suns, Los Angeles Clippers and Portland Trail Blazers. During his career, his teams made five appearances in the NBA Playoffs.

Selected out of Stanford by the Jazz with the 52nd overall pick in the 2001 NBA Draft, Collins spent the first eight seasons of his career in Utah before joining the Suns in 2009-10 during current Warriors Head Coach Steve Kerr's final season as the team's GM.

After finishing his playing career in 2010-11, the Northridge, CA, native worked the last two seasons as a personnel scout for the Clippers, and also worked as a television analyst for several outlets, including Pac-12 Networks, ESPNU and the Los Angeles Sparks.

His twin brother, Jason, was a college teammate at Stanford and played 13 years in the NBA.

Jarron and his wife, Elsa, have two daughters, Alessandra and Valentina, and one son, Massimo.

CHRIS DEMARCO

Assistant Coach / Player Development

Chris DeMarco is in his fifth season with the Golden State Warriors, his second as an assistant coach/player development. In this role, he works with the team's players on individual skill development as well as game planning and scouting preparation for upcoming opponents.

Prior to his current role, DeMarco, 31, served as the team's advance scout/video scout during the 2014-15 Championship season, assisting the coaching staff with game preparation and opponent scouting reports. He originally joined the Warriors prior to the 2012-13 campaign as a video intern and was promoted to assistant video coordinator for the 2013-14 season.

A native of Appleton, WI, DeMarco played collegiately for three seasons at Edgewood College in Madison, WI, from 2005-08 before transferring to Dominican University in San Rafael, CA, for the 2008-09 season.

Chris, who received his MBA in Global Management from Dominican University, currently lives in San Rafael.

BRUCE FRASER

Assistant Coach / Player Development

Bruce Fraser is in his third season on the Golden State Warriors coaching staff. In his role as an assistant coach/player development, he oversees all aspects of the players' skill and strategic development, and also prepares team and player scouting reports for upcoming opponents.

Fraser, 51, joined the Warriors prior to the 2014-15 campaign and worked closely on-court with the players on individual skill development during the team's championship season.

Previously, Fraser coached at both the college and professional levels, having worked at the University of Arizona under Lute Olson (1987-90), the University of Missouri under Quin Snyder (1999-2000) and the Indiana Pacers under Larry Brown (1994-95). Additionally, he served as a scout for the Phoenix Suns from 2004-10.

The Long Beach, CA, native was a teammate of Warriors Head Coach Steve Kerr at the University of Arizona, where Fraser played from 1983-87.

WILLIE GREEN

Assistant Coach / Player Development

Willie Green, who played 12 seasons in the NBA, is in his first year as an assistant coach/player development for the Golden State Warriors.

Green, 35, posted career averages of 8.3 points, 1.8 rebounds and 1.4 assists in 731 regular-season games over his 12-year playing career with the Philadelphia 76ers, New Orleans Hornets, Atlanta Hawks, Los Angeles Clippers and Orlando Magic. Originally selected by the Seattle SuperSonics in the second round (41st overall) of the 2003 NBA Draft, Green was acquired by the 76ers in a draft night trade and spent his first seven seasons in Philadelphia—including six seasons as a teammate of Warriors forward Andre Iguodala. Green, who last played with Orlando in 2014-15, qualified for the postseason seven times over his 12-year career, averaging 5.2 points in 36 playoff games.

A native of Detroit, Michigan, Green attended the University of Detroit Mercy, where he was named Horizon League Player of the Year as a senior in 2002-03.

STEVE NASH

Player Development Consultant

Steve Nash is in his second season as a player development consultant for the Golden State Warriors. In this role, Nash will be embedded with the Warriors periodically throughout the season, working on-court with the team.

Nash, 42, enjoyed an 18-year NBA playing career with the Phoenix Suns, Dallas Mavericks and Los Angeles Lakers. An eight-time NBA All-Star, he won back-to-back MVP awards while with the Suns in 2004-05 and 2005-06, becoming just the 10th player in NBA history to win the award in consecutive seasons. The 6'3" point guard was a seven-time All-NBA performer, garnering First Team recognition three times (2005, 2006, 2007), Second Team twice (2008, 2010) and Third Team twice (2002, 2003). For his career, Nash averaged 14.3 points, 8.5 assists, 3.0 rebounds and 31.3 minutes per contest in 1,217 regular-season games. He also appeared in 120 playoff games, averaging 17.3 points and 8.8 assists.

A former member of the Canadian national team who grew up in Victoria, British Columbia, Nash attended Santa Clara University. During his four-year career with the Broncos (1992-1996), he was a two-time West Coast Conference Player of the Year (1994-95, 1995-96) and finished his career as the school's all-time leader in assists (510), free throw percentage (.862) and three-point field goals (263), while ranking third on the school's all-time scoring list (1,689). As a freshman he helped lead 15th-seeded Santa Clara to an upset over #2 seed Arizona in the First Round of the 1993 NCAA Tournament.

CHELSEA LANE

Head of Physical Performance & Sports Medicine

Chelsea Lane is in her second season with the Golden State Warriors, her first as the team's head of physical performance and sports medicine. In this role, Lane is responsible for overseeing and coordinating athlete performance, physical preparation and sports medicine programs.

During her first season with the Warriors in 2015-16, Lane served as the team's head performance therapist. In that role she was primarily responsible for the development and implementation of player performance therapy plans.

Lane, who owns more than 17 years of experience as a Sports Physiotherapist, joined the Warriors from High Performance Sport New Zealand, the provider of sports medicine and athletic performance programs for that nation's Olympic athletes. In that role she worked with a multitude of Summer and Winter Olympians and their programs since moving to New Zealand from her native Australia in 2006. For the 18 months prior to joining the Warriors, Lane served as the lead physiotherapist for New Zealand's national track and field program, traveling to the 2015 IAAF World Championships in Beijing, China, with the team in September of 2015.

DREW YODER

Head Athletic Trainer

Drew Yoder is in his fourth season with the Golden State Warriors, his second as the team's athletic trainer. In this role, he assists with the day-to-day health maintenance of the team, including rehabilitation therapy of injuries. During his first two seasons with the organization, Yoder served as the team's assistant athletic trainer.

Yoder, 30, joined the Warriors from Southern Methodist University, where he served as an assistant athletic trainer for football, men's soccer and women's rowing for three years. While interning at SMU in 2010, Yoder gained NBA experience working with the athletic training staff of the Dallas Mavericks.

The Mount Ayr, Iowa, native earned his bachelor's degree in athletic training from Kansas State University and his Master of Education degree from the University of Missouri, where he worked as a graduate assistant for the football and golf programs for two seasons.

MICHAEL IRR

Performance Coach & Therapist

Michael Irr is currently in his second season as a performance coach and therapist for the Golden State Warriors, his seventh season overall in the NBA. In his current role, Irr is responsible for developing and implementing the performance programming and rehabilitation for the team's players in coordination with the entire physical performance and sports medicine staff.

Irr joined the Warriors prior to the 2015-16 campaign having previously served as strength and conditioning coach for the Charlotte Bobcats from 2008-11 and as an assistant strength and conditioning coach for the Chicago Bulls from 2006-08. While with the Bobcats and Bulls, he focused on performance training design and implementation.

After leaving the Bobcats, Irr returned to school and graduated with a Doctorate of Physical Therapy from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in August of 2015. A certified strength and conditioning specialist through the National Strength and Conditioning Association, he graduated with a BS in Exercise Science from the University of Connecticut in 2006.

Michael and his wife, Stefanie, live in the Bay Area.

KURTIS RAYFIELD
Physical Performance Coach

Kurtis Rayfield is currently in his second season as a physical performance coach for the Golden State Warriors. In this role, he is responsible for developing and implementing the physical performance programs for the team's players. Additionally, he assists with players' nutritional, recovery and load management plans.

Rayfield joined the Warriors prior to the 2015-16 campaign after spending the previous two seasons working as an athletic performance coordinator for the Oklahoma City Thunder and the Oklahoma City Blue, the Thunder's D-League affiliate. During his time with the Thunder, he worked closely on the development of performance and nutrition programs for the Thunder and Blue, as well as their load management.

Before working with the Thunder organization, Rayfield spent two years at Stanford University as a graduate assistant sports performance coach. While at Stanford, he was responsible for training the Cardinal's women's basketball, men's swimming and sailing teams while assisting with men's basketball. Prior to his time at Stanford, Rayfield participated in internship programs with the Chicago Bulls, University of Wisconsin hockey, University of Pittsburgh football, University of Wisconsin-La Crosse and Winona State University.

Rayfield is a certified strength and conditioning specialist through the National Strength and Conditioning Association and has Level 1 Sports Performance Coaching Certification from USA Weightlifting. He holds a bachelor's in exercise and sport science with a concentration in strength and conditioning and a minor in business administration from the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse and is finishing a master's in kinesiology from San Jose State University. He is a native of Elkhorn, Wisconsin, and an Eagle Scout.

ROGER SANCHO
Assistant Athletic Trainer

Roger Sancho is in his third season with the Warriors organization, and first as assistant athletic trainer for the Golden State Warriors.

Prior to his current role, Sancho spent two seasons with the Santa Cruz Warriors as the head athletic trainer for Golden State's NBA D-League affiliate. During that same time, he also assisted the Golden State training staff beginning with the club's championship season in 2014-15.

Sancho, 26, gained experience at Southern Methodist University as an intern athletic trainer and at Baylor University as a graduate assistant athletic trainer. He worked with the SMU Football team, as well as the Baylor Track and Field team, prior to joining the Warriors organization.

The Sulphur Springs, Texas, native earned his bachelor's degree in Athletic Training from the University of Texas at Arlington in 2012, and his master's degree from Baylor University in 2014.

ERIC HOUSEN
Director of Team Services

Eric Housen is in his 30th season with the Warriors organization, and his sixth as the team's director of team services. He served as the team's equipment manager for 12 years (1999-2011) prior to being promoted to his current position, where he continues to oversee the team's equipment needs and travel arrangements.

Housen is in charge of ordering and maintaining all of the team's basketball related equipment at home and on the road, as well as at the team's practice facility. He also oversees two full-time assistants and a staff of 10 ball boys for all of the team's home games.

Along with handling the Warriors' equipment needs, Housen also coordinates all of the travel and lodging arrangements throughout the season for the team's 60-person travel party. Additionally, Housen plans the menus and orders all of the meals that are made available to the players and basketball staff.

Housen, 42, began his career with the Warriors as a ball boy during the 1985-86 season as a sixth-grader, serving in that capacity for six years before being promoted to assistant equipment manager in 1991-92. After an additional six years in that role, he took a one-year hiatus in Indiana before returning to serve one more season as assistant equipment manager in 1998-99 before being promoted to equipment manager for the 1999-00 campaign.

He resides in Oakland with his wife, Codi, and their dog, Blue.

RICK WELTS

President & Chief Operating Officer

One of the most respected business executives in the NBA, with over 40 years of experience in the league, Rick Welts is currently in his sixth season as president and chief operating officer of the Golden State Warriors. In this role, he oversees all business-related operations for the Warriors, including Chase Center, the team's privately financed sports and entertainment center in San Francisco's Mission Bay neighborhood, reporting to the organization's owners, Joe Lacob and Peter Guber. He owns the rare distinction of being a part of championship teams in the NBA (2), WNBA (2) and NBA Development League (1).

Under Welts' direction, the organization has established several franchise benchmarks from a business standpoint in recent years, as the Warriors' brand continues to grow in stature following Golden State's 2014-15 NBA championship season and consecutive trips to the NBA Finals. The organization has won numerous awards across all facets of the business in recent years, including the Warriors being named "Sports Team of the Year" across all sports in both 2014 and 2016 by the Sports Business Journal/Daily. The Warriors are the first professional team to win this coveted award twice.

Welts, 63, owns an impressive and all-encompassing résumé that includes a myriad of different capacities spanning virtually every level of an NBA operation. Prior to joining the Warriors in September 2011, he spent nine years as president of the Phoenix Suns. Welts' responsibilities in Phoenix included the supervision of all business operations for the Suns, while also overseeing the team's interest in the management of the US Airways Center and the WNBA's Phoenix Mercury.

Prior to joining the Suns, Welts enjoyed a successful 17-year (1982-1999) stint at the NBA league office in New York, where he ascended through the ranks to eventually become the league's third-in-command as the executive vice president, chief marketing officer and president of NBA Properties. In addition to his overall contributions to the revitalization of the league's image and popularity, his notable accomplishments at the NBA include the creation of NBA All-Star Weekend in 1984 along with the marketing program for USA Basketball for the 1992 Olympic "Dream Team." Along with Val Ackerman, Welts was named "Marketer of the Year" by Brandweek in 1998 for his role in launching the WNBA. During his time at the NBA office, he supervised a wide-range of departments, including corporate sponsorship and media sales, consumer products, international business activities, media relations, community relations, team services, special events and creative services. Welts also played a prominent role in the organization of preseason games in international cities and the eventual opening of international NBA offices in Australia, Asia, Europe, Mexico and Canada.

A native of Seattle, Washington, Welts began his NBA career in 1969, at the age of 16, as a ball boy with the Seattle SuperSonics. He spent 10 years with his hometown team serving a number of roles, including as the team's director of public relations during back-to-back appearances in the NBA Finals (1978 and 1979) and the SuperSonics' lone NBA Championship in 1979. In 2006, he was the recipient of the annual Splaver/McHugh "Tribute to Excellence Award," which is given annually by the NBA Public Relations Directors' Association to a current or former member of the NBA PR family who has demonstrated an outstanding level of performance and service during their NBA career.

After leaving the SuperSonics, the University of Washington product spent the following three years (1980-1982) at Bob Walsh & Associates, a sports marketing firm in the Seattle area. His non-NBA résumé also includes serving as president of Fox Sports Enterprises (1999-2000).

In May of 2011, in a front page story in the New York Times, Welts became the highest ranking executive in men's professional team sports to publicly acknowledge he is gay. He was presented with a United States Tennis Association 2011 ICON Award at the US Open in New York City, an award that recognizes and celebrates those who have had a positive impact on diversity and inclusion in the sports industry and society. Also in 2011, he was honored with GLSEN's (Gay, Lesbian and Straight Education Network) Respect Award, which honors those who have made a difference in the areas of diversity and inclusion. In September 2014, he was honored by GLAAD, the nation's LGBT media advocacy organization, with the Davidson/Valentini Award, which is presented to an LGBT media professional who has made a significant difference in promoting equality for the LGBT community. He also served as the celebrity Grand Marshal of San Francisco's Pride Parade in 2015. In 2016 he was honored by the Anti-Defamation League with its "Torch of Liberty Award." A member of Delta Chi fraternity while attending the University of Washington, in 2015 he was named "Delta Chi of the Year" by the national organization.

Welts currently serves as a board member of San Francisco Travel, the Bay Area Council and the Warriors Community Foundation. He is a member of the Basketball Hall of Fame's Direct Elect Committee, the NBA's Team Advisory Committee, and the Global Inclusion Council.

JENNIFER CABALQUINTO

Chief Financial Officer

Jennifer Cabalquinto is currently in her fourth year as the chief financial officer (CFO) of the Golden State Warriors. In this role, she oversees all day-to-day and long-term financial planning and accounting for the organization.

With over 25 years of finance leadership experience in a variety of start-up, turnaround, and high growth business environments, Cabalquinto most recently served as vice president and chief financial officer for Universal Studios Hollywood from 2007-2013. In this role, she was responsible for NBC Universal's theme park and Citywalk operations in Los Angeles, California.

Cabalquinto joined NBC Universal as part of the Telemundo acquisition. At the time of the acquisition, she served as vice president and chief financial officer for the Telemundo Station Group in Miami, Florida. With the integration of Telemundo, Jennifer was relocated to Los Angeles to serve as vice president of finance for NBCU's Los Angeles television stations – KNBC, KVEA and KWHY. Before joining Telemundo, Jennifer worked for Ernst & Young, Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines and Future Tech International in auditing, financial planning and reporting, and controllership roles.

Jennifer earned a bachelor's degree in Accounting from SUNY, Binghamton's School of Management.

CHIP BOWERS

Chief Marketing Officer

Chip Bowers is currently in his fifth season as the chief marketing officer (CMO) of the Golden State Warriors. In this role, Bowers oversees all broadcasting, marketing and corporate partnership sales & services efforts for the organization. During his tenure with the Warriors, the organization has received several prestigious awards for its efforts on the business side, including the SportsBusiness Journal's Sports Team of the Year award in 2014 and 2016.

Bowers joined the Warriors after a four-year stint with the Orlando Magic, where he most recently served as the team's senior vice president of corporate partnerships & marketing. With the Magic, Bowers oversaw the marketing, corporate partnerships sales and client services process for the organization, while orchestrating the sale of naming rights and all founding partnerships associated with the Amway Center – the Magic's new arena that was named 2012 Facility of the Year by the Sports Business Journal. Under his direction, the Magic's corporate partnership team also won the inaugural Sponsorship Activation Award at the NBA Sponsorship Meetings in 2012. He originally joined the Magic in June of 2008 as vice president of corporate partnerships.

Prior to joining the Magic, Bowers spent eight seasons in various roles within the business development department for the Seattle SuperSonics organization. In May of 2007, Bowers was promoted to vice president of business development, where he oversaw the corporate partnership development, revenue generation and client services for both the Sonics and Seattle Storm of the WNBA.

A graduate of Appalachian State University, Bowers began his career in professional sports with the San Diego Padres, where, as a senior sales executive, he assisted in fiscally rejuvenating previously unrealized revenue streams by selling newly developed stadium signage, website advertising and multi-dimensional marketing programs.

Bowers currently resides in Orinda with his wife April and daughters, Charlie and Poppy.

DAVID KELLY

General Counsel and Vice President, Basketball Management & Strategy

David Kelly is currently in his sixth season with the Golden State Warriors. In the role of General Counsel and Vice President, Basketball Management & Strategy, Kelly serves as the team's chief legal officer, manages matters related to the salary cap and luxury tax planning, and manages many of the company's key projects and initiatives on both the business and basketball sides of the operation, including legal matters related to Chase Center, the proposed new sports and entertainment center in San Francisco's Mission Bay neighborhood.

This past March, Kelly received The Recorder Magazine's 2016 In-House Impact Award, recognizing California litigation practices that delivered exceptional results on critical and challenging matters for their companies.

Prior to joining the Warriors, Kelly was a partner at Katten Muchin Rosenman LLP where he provided legal counsel to a variety of sports teams and related clients, including the Golden State Warriors, Boston Celtics, Chicago Bulls, Oakland Athletics, Chicago White Sox, St. Louis Blues, Stockton Thunder, Time Warner Cable and Comcast Spectacor, regarding television, radio and internet rights agreements, arena/stadium matters, intellectual property issues, and sponsorship and naming rights agreements. David also advised clients in corporate transactions such as mergers, acquisitions and tender offers; represented underwriters in public offerings; and provided counsel to public companies with respect to securities law compliance, disclosure requirements and corporate governance matters.

David has a passion for music and his work as a musician has been featured on the CBS Evening News and CNN, and in Time Magazine, the New York Times, the Chicago Tribune and the Wall Street Journal. He has also toured in the United States, Canada, England, the Netherlands, Sweden, Portugal and Brazil.

A native of Chicago, David earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from Morehouse College in 1996 and his Juris Doctor degree from the University of Illinois College of Law in 2004. He and his wife, Zeenat, have three children.

BRANDON SCHNEIDER

Senior Vice President, Business Development

Brandon Schneider is in his 15th season with the Warriors organization, his third as senior vice president, business development. In his current role, Schneider is responsible for all strategic planning and execution related to the organization's ticket and suite sales, services, and operations efforts. He also manages the team's retail business both online and at Oracle Arena, and remains laser focused on continuing to improve the overall fan experience at Oracle Arena. Schneider is leveraging his experience with the team in working with architects and the design team in ensuring the Warriors execute on their plan of building Chase Center, a world class arena in San Francisco. Lastly, Schneider also oversees the Warriors' NBA Development League team, the Santa Cruz Warriors, and is committed to helping the organization develop both basketball and business talent through this important arm of the organization. Prior to assuming his current position, Schneider most recently served two seasons as group vice president of ticket sales and services, and three seasons as vice president, ticket sales and services.

Under Schneider's leadership the Warriors' season ticket base has grown to a franchise record 14,500 seats, and he spearheaded a successful renewal strategy that resulted in a 90%+ season ticket renewal rate in each of the past four seasons. The Warriors launched a Priority Wait List for season tickets prior to the 2013-14 season, and that list has grown to more than 33,000 members who are committed to purchasing season tickets if/when they become available. He pushed the organization to successfully adopt a dynamic ticket pricing model prior to the 2011-12 campaign, and mirrored the model on the suite level shortly thereafter. He led the Warriors to a 189-game and counting sellout streak by the end of the 2015-16 season, during which the Warriors' ticket sales and services department received four "best in industry" awards at the 2016 NBA Sales and Marketing Meetings.

Prior to being named VP, Schneider served as the team's executive director of ticket sales in 2008-09 after serving as the director of ticket sales for the 2006-07 and 2007-08 seasons. Schneider originally joined the Warriors in the summer of 2002 as a season ticket account executive before being promoted to ticket sales manager in June of 2004 and assistant director of ticket sales the following April.

A Bay Area native, Schneider graduated from UCLA in 2001 with a degree in business economics and an accounting minor. A diehard fan of both the San Francisco 49ers and San Francisco Giants, he lives in Oakland with his wife, Amanda.

JOHN BEAVEN

Vice President, Ticket Sales & Services

John Beaven is currently in his 14th season with the Golden State Warriors organization, his second as the team's vice president of ticket sales and services. In his current role, Beaven is responsible for overseeing all aspects of the team's ticketing efforts, which include the strategic planning and execution for season ticket and single game initiatives, customer service, and ticket operations. Under Beaven's guidance, the Warriors' season ticket base has remained at a franchise record 14,500 seats for the last three seasons with season ticket renewal rates over 90%, including a franchise record 99% renewal rate for the 2016-17 season. The Warriors also launched a Season Ticket Priority Wait List at the start of the 2013-14 season, which has grown to over 33,000 members.

Prior to being promoted to his current role, Beaven served as the executive director of ticket sales, including in the summer of 2013 when the team surpassed 14,000 season ticket holders for the first time in franchise history. Previously, he also served as the team's director of group sales for three seasons, when he helped double the department's annual sales numbers and managed to eclipse the league benchmark of 3,000 departmental group tickets sold per game for the 2009-10 season. He originally joined the organization in 2003 as a season ticket account executive before being named group sales manager two years later.

A native of London, England, Beaven spent his childhood in Sacramento before receiving his bachelor's degree in general biology from the University of California, San Diego in 2002. John currently resides in Potrero Hill with his wife, Tarah, their son Foster, and dog, Taz. He also has a daughter, Sara Beaven.

GAIL HUNTER

Vice President of Public Affairs, Community Relations & Event Management

Gail Hunter is in her fifth season as vice president of public affairs, community relations and event management for the Golden State Warriors. In this multifaceted role, Hunter leads the organization's community affairs efforts in the Bay Area as well as the Warriors' engagement efforts in San Francisco with regards to the planning and construction of Chase Center, the proposed privately financed sports and entertainment center in San Francisco's Mission Bay neighborhood. Hunter also serves as the organization's liaison with the groups that collectively operate Oracle Arena, including the Joint Powers Authority, AEG and Levy Restaurants. Additionally, she leads the Warriors Events department and serves on the board of the Warriors Community Foundation.

Hunter joined the Warriors in September of 2012 after 13 years at the National Basketball Association, the last 10 of which she served as the league's Senior Vice President, Events and Attractions. In that role she managed the NBA's and WNBA's domestic and international grassroots marketing programs, including NBA All-Star, NBA All-Star Jam Session, NBA Jam Van, NBA Summer League and NBA Nation. Hunter's duties with these events included the conceptualization of overall event themes, designs and elements, while also overseeing production, operations, sponsorship management, execution, public relations, marketing and advertising. Additionally, she served as the NBA All-Star liaison with the host team, city and governmental entities, and community organizations.

Prior to joining the NBA, Hunter served as the Director of Corporate Marketing for the Seattle Mariners, where she was in charge of corporate sponsorship sales, corporate development, marketing, and ballpark planning for Safeco Field. Before joining the Mariners, she spent seven years as Director of Promotional Events for Major League Baseball, where she developed and managed baseball's premier All-Star event, All-Star Fan Fest.

Hunter earned her Bachelor of Arts degree in theatre arts and business administration from the Fredonia campus of the State University of New York and earned her law degree from the University of North Carolina. A member of the Washington State Bar, she practiced with the firm of Schweppe, Krug and Tausend in Seattle before beginning her sports business career as the Assistant Director of Championships for the NCAA.

Among her many awards and accomplishments, Hunter was inducted into the Alameda County Women's Hall of Fame in March of 2016, being honored for her outstanding commitment and service to local communities and youth. Additionally, the SportsBusiness Journal selected Hunter as a member of their 2014 class of "Game Changers: Women in Sports Business," which recognizes women in the industry who have played key roles in their respective fields. An active member of WISE (Women In Sports & Events) who serves as a mentor in the WISE Within mentorship program, she was named a 2012 WISE Women of the Year Award recipient. Hunter resides in Oakland with her wife, Nadine, and their two children, Olivia and Bryant.

KENNY LAUER

Vice President, Digital & Marketing

Kenny Lauer is in his fourth season as vice president, digital and marketing for the Golden State Warriors. In this role, Lauer oversees all digital strategies and all day to day management of marketing, game experience, youth basketball camps, and retail. Additionally, he drives all experience and ideation initiatives related to Oracle Arena and future development for Chase Center, the team's proposed arena in San Francisco's Mission Bay neighborhood.

Prior to joining the Warriors, Lauer most recently served as the vice president, digital experience at George P. Johnson. Running the worldwide Digital Experience group, he was responsible for the creation and threading of digital experiences in both the live and virtual marketing efforts of some of the largest companies in the world.

Lauer's diverse background includes an array of creative and quantitative roles at agencies and within corporate marketing teams. Lauer started his career at Apple Computer, was an enterprise strategic consultant at KPMG and a CRM strategist at Peppers & Rogers Group, where he assisted clients such as Ford, E*Trade, Adobe, Hewlett Packard and SAP build better customer relationships. He also was co-founder, CVP at Top Niche Partners, an online performance marketing agency specializing in helping clients improve the performance of their online properties and marketing programs. Prior to his role at Peppers & Rogers Group, Lauer was the director of consulting services for Prospero Technologies, an interactive technology and services firm where he led Fortune 500 clients through the strategic process of building better relationships through online communities.

A graduate from the University of California, Berkeley with a degree in Psychology, Lauer is also an active member of The Academy of Television Arts & Sciences (Emmys); Interactive Media Peer Group; an Advisory Board Member to the SXSW Interactive Festival; and was awarded the "Certified Experience Economy Expert" designation from Strategic Horizons.

RAYMOND RIDDER

Vice President, Communications

Raymond Ridder is currently in his 19th season with the Golden State Warriors and his sixth as the team's vice president of communications. A 26-year member of the NBA PR community, Ridder is currently serving his second tour of duty as the Pacific Division's representative on the NBA's PR Advisory Committee.

Prior to being promoted to his current position, Ridder spent eight seasons as the team's executive director of public relations after joining the organization prior to the 1998-99 campaign as the team's PR director. In his current capacity, Ridder is the primary liaison between the Warriors and the local, national and international media. He is responsible for creating various PR plans and strategies for the organization and for coordinating and overseeing all player/media interviews, press conferences and written information disseminated by the team. Additionally, he oversees the team's corporate and community communications efforts.

Following the 2015-16 season, Ridder and the Warriors' PR staff were named recipients of the Brian McIntyre Media Relations Award, given annually by the NBA PBWA (Pro Basketball Writers Association) for excellence in media relations. This marked the second time in three years – and the third time in seven years – that the Warriors PR staff, under Ridder's guidance, received this prestigious recognition, as they were also named the McIntyre Award winners following the 2013-14 and 2009-10 seasons.

A 1990 graduate of California State University, San Bernardino, where he earned his B.A. in marketing, Ridder joined the Los Angeles Lakers' public relations department as an intern prior to the 1990-91 season. He was promoted to assistant public relations director in June of 1993 and spent the following six seasons in that capacity with the Lakers. During his tenure in Los Angeles, the Lakers were at the center of the NBA's stage on numerous occasions, including Magic Johnson's retirement and comeback, the signing of center Shaquille O'Neal and the media hype generated by young phenom Kobe Bryant.

An avid runner and die-hard fan of the Cincinnati Reds and Dallas Cowboys, Ridder is a native of Riverside, CA, and currently resides in Dublin with his wife, Sanae.

MARTY GLICK

Special Advisor to Ownership

Marty Glick is in his sixth season with the Golden State Warriors, his fourth as special advisor to ownership. In this capacity, Glick is primarily responsible for the financing and overseeing of the financial aspects of Chase Center, the team's proposed state-of-the-art sports and entertainment center, and all related development, in San Francisco. He is also a board member for the Warriors Community Foundation.

Prior to assuming his current role in the summer of 2013, Glick served two seasons as chief financial officer for the Warriors, overseeing all financial strategy, planning and accounting for the organization. He is also a minority owner.

A highly-regarded former biotech executive whose affiliations have a history of innovative success, Glick has accumulated a wealth of experience as a prominent financial figure for several large biotech businesses during his career. He spent more than a decade (1987-1997) at Genentech of South San Francisco, where he most recently served as vice president of finance. He also served as executive vice president and chief financial officer of Theravance, a Bay Area-based drug discovery company, for seven years (1998-2005) and was a co-founder and board member of Eyetech Pharmaceuticals.

Additionally, Glick was co-founder and chairman of the board of PEAK Surgical – an innovative private medical device company – and his résumé also includes a seven-plus year stint as the chair of the Biotech Tax and Finance Committee.

A native of Chicago, Illinois, Glick earned his MBA in Finance at Kellogg School of Management (Northwestern University), his BSBA in Accounting at Creighton University and is also a CPA and Chartered Accountant (Ontario, Canada).

WARRIORS BUSINESS: BY THE NUMBERS

189: The Warriors, who sold out every home game during the last three seasons, have sold out 189 consecutive games overall at Oracle Arena (regular season and playoffs), the longest streak for the club since the arena's capacity was increased from 15,025 to 19,596 in 1997.

33,000: The Warriors, after capping season ticket sales at 14,500 during the 2013-14 season and establishing a single-season franchise record, now have a Season Ticket Priority Wait List of over 33,000.

GSW ARENA LLC

GSW Arena LLC, founded in 2010, is privately funding the construction of a new sports and entertainment arena to be named Chase Center, which will be the anchor of an 11-acre mixed use complex on private property in San Francisco's Mission Bay neighborhood.

Set to open for the start of the 2019-20 NBA season, the 18,000-seat Chase Center will anchor a district of restaurants, cafes, offices, public plazas and other amenities the neighborhood currently lacks, along with a new five-and-a-half-acre public waterfront park. For more information on Chase Center, visit ChaseCenter.com.

CHASE CENTER

STEPHEN COLLINS

Chief Operating Officer, GSW Arena LLC

Stephen Collins is currently in his second season with the Golden State Warriors as the chief operating officer of GSW Arena LLC. In this role, Collins oversees all operations as it relates to Chase Center, the Warriors state-of-the-art sports and entertainment center in San Francisco's Mission Bay neighborhood, reporting to Warriors President & Chief Operating Officer Rick Welts.

Collins joined the Warriors in May of 2015, bringing 20 years of experience in operations and event management with the top venues in the industry. Most recently he was the executive vice president of facilities for Madison Square Garden, overseeing operations for all MSG properties including Madison Square Garden Arena, Radio City Music Hall, the Los Angeles Forum, the Beacon Theater and the Chicago Theater. Collins managed the $1 billion renovation of Madison Square Garden arena, as well as the $120 million renovation of the LA Forum. In addition, he was responsible for all facility operations including food and beverage, event production and operations, merchandising, guest services, security, finance, legal, human resources and construction.

Prior to Madison Square Garden, Collins led operations for Giants Stadium and Meadowlands Arena for the New Jersey Sports & Exposition Authority. During his role with Giants Stadium, Collins was responsible for overseeing event management, physical plant, capital projects, and the practice facility. While with Meadowlands Arena, Collins ran event management and operations for nearly a decade.

Collins graduated from Gettysburg College in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania with a degree in Business.

ERIC BRESLER

Executive Director, Chase Center

Eric Bresler is currently in his first year as executive director of Chase Center, the Golden State Warriors' state-of-the-art sports and entertainment complex in San Francisco's Mission Bay neighborhood. In this role, he leads the overall activation of Chase Center, including programming, content development and venue operations.

Bresler brings nearly three decades of experience in venue management in the sports and entertainment industry to GSW Arena LLC. Most recently he served as the Vice President of Event Booking and Development for AEG Facilities for eight years, overseeing the programming of concerts, festivals, family shows, championship sports exhibitions and special events within AEG's portfolio of top facilities. In addition, he was engaged with business development including event revenue generation and marketing efforts at the venues. Bresler was a part of numerous major venue openings during his time with AEG Facilities.

Prior to his success at AEG Facilities, Bresler spent eight years as Vice President of Arena Bookings and Marketing for the Heat Group/AmericanAirlines Arena in Miami, Florida, where he opened the Miami Heat's new waterfront arena. He was responsible for event programming, revenue and venue marketing, and public relations. Bresler began his career in South Florida at what is now known as Hard Rock Stadium, working in the stadium business offices with a focus on marketing and public relations. He later joined the Charlotte Coliseum, the former home of the NBA's Charlotte Hornets and Charlotte Bobcats, handling the event and venue marketing and public relations efforts. He left Charlotte and joined what is now known as the Amalie Arena in Tampa, Florida, the home of the Tampa Bay Lightning, as the Director of Marketing, where he was active in the grand opening of the new arena which proved to be his first successful major venue opening.

Bresler is a graduate of the University of Arizona with a degree in radio/television/journalism and currently lives in San Francisco.

ALVIN ATTLES

Warriors Legend & Community Ambassador

Currently in his 57th year with the Warriors organization, Al Attles' current stint with the same team represents the longest active streak in the NBA. Attles, who celebrated his 80th birthday on November 7, 2016, joined the Warriors in 1960 (Philadelphia Warriors' fifth-round draft choice) and has since been affiliated with the club in one capacity or another, building a unique relationship based on commitment, loyalty and dedication.

In August 2014, Attles was honored by the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame with the John R. Bunn Lifetime Achievement Award. The award, which is the most prestigious of its kind presented by the Hall of Fame outside of Enshrinement, honors coaches, players and contributors whose outstanding accomplishments have impacted the game of basketball.

Attles is one of only six players in Warriors history to have his jersey retired (#16) – joining Rick Barry (#24), Wilt Chamberlain (#13), Tom Meschery (#14), Chris Mullin (#17), and Nate Thurmond (#42) – and remains one of the most publicly recognizable sports figures in the Bay Area.

His endless contributions locally as a player, executive and civic leader resulted in his much-deserved induction into the Bay Area Sports Hall of Fame in 1993. In the summer of 2006, the newly refurbished outdoor basketball court at Lincoln Square Park in downtown Oakland was permanently renamed "Alvin Attles Court" in honor of the local legend and longtime Oakland resident. And, most recently, the Warriors announced that the team will present the Alvin Attles Volunteer Award to the team employee who goes above and beyond in their efforts to serve the Bay Area community as part of the organization's Helping Hands volunteer program.

In the latter stages of the 1969-70 NBA campaign, Attles was named head coach of the Warriors, replacing George Lee after 52 games (spent the final two years of his playing career [1969-70 and 1970-71] as a player/coach). His 30-game stint as head coach to end that season proved to be the start of the longest head coaching run in Warriors franchise history, a 13-plus year tenure which produced, among other highlights, the first NBA Championship in the club's West Coast history (1974-75).

During his 13-year coaching run, Attles guided the Warriors to six playoff berths, two division titles and amassed an overall record of 557-518, which ranks 25th on the NBA's all-time coach win list. One season after leading Golden State to the NBA title, he led the Warriors to a sparkling 59-23 record in 1975-76, which stood as the best mark in franchise history until 2014-15 and was the top record in the NBA that season. He also was named head coach of the Western Conference All-Star Team in both 1975 and 1976. Attles completed his coaching career in 1982-83 to become the Warriors GM, heading the team's basketball operations for three years.

One of the most aggressive and hard-nosed players in the league, Attles earned the unique nickname of "The Destroyer," which appropriately described his mentality on the floor. During his 11-year NBA career, he averaged 8.9 points, 3.5 rebounds and 3.5 assists in 711 regular-season games and currently ranks fifth on the Warriors all-time games played list (711). Furthermore, he was involved in one of the most memorable games in NBA history on March 2, 1962, when he and teammate Wilt Chamberlain combined for 117 points against the New York Knicks, the most ever by a pair of players in league annals. In that game, Attles tallied 17 points (8-8 FG, 1-1 FT), while Chamberlain netted an all-time NBA record 100 points. He retired following the 1970-71 campaign to focus strictly on coaching, eliminating his dual role as player/coach.

A 1960 graduate of North Carolina A&T, Attles earned his bachelor's degree in Physical Education and History. He later added a master's degree in Curriculum and Instruction to his credentials from the University of San Francisco in 1983. In 2015, Attles became the first player to have his number retired by North Carolina A&T when the school hung his #22 jersey from the rafters.

Al and his wife, Wilhelmina, reside in Oakland and have two adult children, Alvin III and Erica.

ADONAL FOYLE

Warriors Community Ambassador

One of only six players in franchise history to play 10 seasons in a Warriors uniform, Adonal Foyle is in his third season as a community ambassador for the Golden State Warriors. A native of St. Vincent and the Grenadines, Foyle remains the Warriors' all-time leader in blocked shots (1,140) while ranking seventh on the team's all-time games played list (641).

Selected eighth overall by the Warriors in the 1997 NBA Draft, the 6'10" center averaged 4.4 points, 5.0 rebounds and 1.78 blocks per game over his 10 seasons with Golden State (1997-2007). Foyle, who was raised on the small island of Canouan and did not play organized basketball until he was 16 years old, ranked in the NBA's top-10 in blocked shots four times.

After his 10-year stint with the Warriors, Foyle played two more NBA seasons – appearing in 82 games with the Orlando Magic in 2007-08 and a total of 10 games combined between the Magic and Memphis Grizzlies in 2008-09. He finished his 12-year professional career with averages of 4.1 points, 4.7 rebounds and 1.63 blocks over 733 regular-season games. Foyle most recently served as Director of Player Development for the Orlando Magic from 2010-12.

Celebrated across the NBA for his tireless humanitarian efforts, Foyle received the Warriors Community Service Award during the 2001-02 season. He also received the NBA's Community Assist monthly award twice during his NBA career (January 2002 and September 2004), and he was recognized multiple times by The Sporting News as one of the "Good Guys" in sports, highlighting his outstanding character and exemplary civic responsibility.

Foyle was inducted into the World Sports Humanitarian Hall of Fame in 2009 for his work throughout his career, particularly with the Kerosene Lamp Foundation (KLF), which he founded in 2003. KLF, which empowers youth to grow into healthy and well-educated adults, has directly reached more than 5,000 children in the Caribbean and United States.

Foyle graduated magna cum laude from Colgate University in 1999 with a bachelor's degree in history, and earned his master's degree from John F. Kennedy University – a degree he began pursuing while still in the NBA. He currently resides in the East Bay, where he has maintained a home since his playing days with the Warriors.

Unveiling of the newly refurbished Nate Thurmond Panhandle Basketball Courts in San Francisco on September 10, 2016. The courts were initially refurbished by the Warriors and the Good Tidings Foundation in 2000 when then-San Francisco Mayor Willie Brown dedicated the courts in honor of Thurmond, the longtime Warriors Community Ambassador.

BOB FITZGERALD

Television Play-by-Play Announcer

One of the most recognizable sports personalities in the Bay Area, Bob Fitzgerald is currently in his 20th season as television play-by-play announcer for the Warriors on CSN Bay Area. Since his arrival, the Warriors broadcast team has received 14 nominations and won three Emmy Awards for "Best Live Sports Broadcast," most recently for CSN Bay Area's broadcast of the Warriors vs. Kings game during the 2014-15 season that featured Klay Thompson's NBA-record 37 points in a single quarter. Fitzgerald has received six Emmy nominations for "Best On-Camera" and was awarded the Emmy for "Best On-Camera, Play-by-Play Sports" for Northern California in 2007 and 2014.

Fitzgerald, a well-known figure throughout the Bay Area sports TV and radio scene, is currently a co-host of the popular "Fitz and Brooks" show from 1:00 - 3:00 p.m. on KNBR 680. He joined the Warriors organization in 1993 as a backup play-by-play broadcaster on the Warriors radio network and was a substitute host of the Warriors Roundtable television programs. Fitzgerald was the television and radio voice for the San Jose SaberCats of the Arena Football League and spent six years as the play-by-play voice for ESPN's NBA Basketball video game series. Fitz also wrote a column for the Oakland Tribune and ANG Newspapers for seven years and currently handles San Francisco 49ers preseason broadcasts.

On a national basis, Fitzgerald currently calls NFL and college football games for Sports USA Radio. He has nearly 20 years of experience broadcasting Olympic sports, as his additional credits include NBC's 2012 London Summer Olympics (Men's and Women's Basketball), 2008 Beijing Summer Olympics (Water Polo), 2004 Athens Summer Olympics (Team USA Men's and Women's Basketball) and the 1996 Atlanta Summer Olympics (Swimming). He has also called network television NFL broadcasts and the NBA D-League Finals series for Versus in 2010.

A graduate of the University of Notre Dame, Fitzgerald also received his master's degree in Sports Management from The Ohio State University. While at Notre Dame, he worked as a play-by-play broadcaster for Fighting Irish football and basketball on campus radio station WVFI.

An avid golfer, Bob lives on the Peninsula with his children, Erin, Ryan and Quinn.

JIM BARNETT

Television Analyst

Jim Barnett is in his 32nd season as the Warriors television analyst, having called the action and provided unique insights for three decades worth of the organization's greatest moments – from Sleepy Floyd's record-setting playoff performance, to the Run-TMC era, to We Believe, to the club's four most-recent playoff appearances, the 2015 NBA Championship season, and everything in between.

A self-proclaimed gym rat who still finds time to work on his jump shot, Barnett continues a deep-rooted passion for the game of basketball. He showed it on the court during an 11-year NBA career and now shares his passion with viewers as the Warriors color commentator. Once again this season, Barnett will join Bob Fitzgerald in broadcasting all Warriors games on Comcast SportsNet Bay Area.

In addition to his broadcast work, Barnett plays an active role on a variety of television and radio programs throughout the basketball season. He serves as a co-host on various Warriors programs, including all postgame radio shows. Active in the community, Barnett also entertains a number of speaking engagements throughout the greater Bay Area during the year, including several guest appearances at Warriors Basketball Camp sessions.

Barnett's NBA career began when the Boston Celtics selected him with the eighth overall pick in the 1966 NBA Draft. He later played for the Warriors for three seasons (1971-74) and five other teams during his 11-year career. Barnett teamed up with many of the league's Hall of Famers, including Warriors stars Rick Barry and Nate Thurmond, as well as Bill Russell, John Havlicek, Walt Frazier, Earl Monroe, Pete Maravich and Julius Erving. Nicknamed "Crazy Horse," Barnett averaged 11.7 points, 3.1 rebounds and 3.0 assists in 732 games.

While Barnett's NBA career is over, his playing days certainly are not. Since 1984, he has participated in the National AAU Master's Championship in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, and still competes in several international Master's Tournaments each year.

A native of Riverside, California, Barnett was a basketball All-American at the University of Oregon and is a member of both the University of Oregon and State of Oregon Athletics Hall of Fame, as well as the Riverside Hall of Fame. Currently residing in Orinda, Barnett enjoys golfing, biking, tennis, and spending time with his daughter, Jennifer, her husband, Scott, and his seven-year-old granddaughter, Stella Hope.

TIM ROYE

Radio Play-by-Play Announcer

Tim Roye is in his 22nd season of handling the play-by-play duties for all Warriors radio broadcasts on the club's flagship station, 95.7 The Game FM, and the Warriors Radio Network. In the last two seasons alone he has called the action for 209 regular-season and postseason games, a historic 73-win campaign, and a pair of trips to the NBA Finals. Roye spoke for Warrior fans everywhere when, at the final buzzer of Game 6 of the 2015 NBA Finals in Cleveland, he famously proclaimed, "It's taken 40 years, but once again, the Bay's team is the best team! The Golden State Warriors have won the NBA title!"

In addition to his play-by-play duties, Roye also continues to host the Warriors' pregame and postgame shows. Overall, this is his 28th year of working NBA play-by-play.

In recent years, Roye has also done television baseball play-by-play work for the Oakland A's and Sacramento Rivercats (then the Oakland A's Triple-A affiliate), television play-by-play for Cal Football, and has served as a back-up radio broadcaster for Stanford Football for the past decade. In the past, he has also served as an auto racing analyst for CSN Bay Area.

Prior to his arrival to Golden State in 1995, Roye spent six seasons with the Sacramento Kings' broadcast team as the pregame, halftime and postgame host for the team's radio broadcasts on KHTK-AM and KFBK-AM. He also handled the radio play-by-play duties for 45 games during the 1994-95 season. Roye hosted a daily three-hour sports talk show on KHTK as well as a weekly two-hour Kings radio program. Prior to his work at KHTK, Roye served as sports director at KFBK in Sacramento for five years (1989-94), handled radio play-by-play and television color analyst duties for the Sacramento Gold Miners of the Canadian Football League, and was also the radio voice of Sac State football, basketball and baseball. Roye spent two years in the Phoenix market from 1987-89, serving as a talk show host for KTAR radio and a correspondent for the Arizona Cardinals Radio Network. He also served as the color analyst for the Arizona State University Basketball Network and called play-by-play for the Phoenix Firebirds and Sun Devil baseball teams.

Following his graduation from Utica College in New York, Roye spent eight years (1978-86) as the sports director at Utica's WIBX-WNYZ radio. He later moved to Birmingham, Alabama, where he was the sports director at WVOK radio from 1986-87 and was the voice of UAB men's basketball.

Tim was inducted into the Utica College Hall of Fame in 2013, earning the Lifetime Achievement honor. He is also a member of the SUNY Utica Hall of Fame.

1966-1971

1997-2010

In unveiling their new logo on June 17, 2010, the Golden State Warriors drew on the franchise's rich Bay Area history, creating a modern version of the team's most popular logos and uniforms from years gone by to simultaneously salute the team's past and serve as a link to the exciting prospects of the organization's future.

A silhouette of the recently-completed Eastern Span of the Bay Bridge is the focal point of the team's primary logo design. This Bay Bridge rendering as the centerpiece of the team's new look is a direct spin-off of "The City" jersey, which the club wore from 1966-71. To this day, "The City" logo remains one of the most popular emblems in the history of professional sports.

The depiction of the new Bay Bridge also serves as the link between the Warriors' original Bay Area home in San Francisco, where the team arrived from Philadelphia 50 years ago, and its current home in Oakland, where the team is headquartered downtown and has played home games at Oracle Arena (formerly the Oakland Coliseum Arena) for the last 40-plus seasons.

The colors of the new logo and branding elements are Warriors Royal Blue and California Golden Yellow. These two colors have been the most prevalent in the team's Bay Area uniform history, appearing as the dominant scheme in four of the last five decades since the team's arrival on the West Coast in 1962.

The new Warriors logo, which was the team's first major branding and identity change since 1997, helped mark the beginning of a new era for one of the NBA's longest tenured franchises. A new era that began, appropriately enough, with a tip of the cap to the team's past.

NBA's 50 Greatest Players

On October 29, 1996, the NBA named its 50 Greatest Players in history in conjunction with the league's 50th anniversary. The following is a list of Warriors who were named with the years they played with the franchise:

Paul Arizin, 1950-62	Jerry Lucas, 1969-71
Rick Barry, 1965-67, 72-78	Robert Parish, 1976-80
Wilt Chamberlain, 1959-65	Nate Thurmond, 1963-74

Wilt Chamberlain averaged 41.5 points and 26.9 rebounds in five seasons with the Philadelphia and San Francisco Warriors..Owns numerous franchise and NBA records, including points (100) and rebounds (55) in a game, and season scoring average (50.4)... His number was retired on December 29, 1999.

Tom Meschery played six seasons with the Philadelphia and San Francisco Warriors, averaging 12.9 points and 8.5 rebounds per game...The 1963 NBA All-Star also appeared in 39 playoff games with the Warriors, averaging 16.3 points...Was the first Warrior to have his number retired on October 13, 1967.

Alvin Attles was drafted by the Warriors in 1960 and has been a member of the organization ever since. In 11 seasons as a player, he averaged 8.9 points. He is the franchise leader in coaching victories with 557 and guided the Warriors to the 1975 NBA Championship...His number was retired on February 10, 1977.

Chris Mullin averaged 20.1 points over 13 seasons with the Warriors, appearing in more games (807) than any player in franchise history...The five-time NBA All-Star averaged 26.5 points in 1988-89, the first of five consecutive campaigns in which he averaged 25-plus points. His number was retired March 19, 2012.

Rick Barry averaged 25.6 points during his eight years with the Warriors...The 1966 NBA Rookie of the Year was an eight-time NBA All-Star and earned All-NBA honors six times...In 66 playoff games he averaged 26.9 points and was named MVP of the 1975 NBA Finals... His number was retired on March 18, 1988.

Nate Thurmond averaged 17.4 points and 16.9 rebounds during his 11 seasons with the Warriors, making seven All-Star Game appearances... Named to the All-Defensive team five times with the Warriors, Thurmond is the team's all-time leading rebounder (12,771)...His number was retired on March 8, 1978.

THE PHILLY YEARS

Before moving West and staking claim in the Bay Area, the Warriors called Philadelphia their home for 16 memorable years.

From the inception of the Basketball Association of America (the predecessor to the National Basketball Association) in 1946, to the conclusion of the 1961-62 season, the Philadelphia Warriors dazzled their fans and produced legendary players like Wilt Chamberlain, Joseph Fulks, Paul Arizin and Neil Johnston en route to amassing a record of 558-545 and capturing two NBA Championships.

Expanding on the National Basketball League of the 1930's and 40's, The Basketball Association of America began play in November of 1946 and consisted of 11 teams and two divisions. The Philadelphia Warriors took residence in the Eastern Division, and under the guidance of head coach Eddie Gottlieb wasted no time in claiming the first ever title, beating the Chicago Stags in the championship series (4-1). In the championship playoff drive, the Warriors were led by "Jumping" Joe Fulks. He followed up his league-leading scoring average (23.2) in the 60-game regular season by averaging 22.2 points in the playoffs, including a game-high 37 in Game 1 of The Finals.

Philadelphia Warriors forward Paul Arizin (#11) shoots during the 1956 NBA Finals.

The league prospered and grew to 17 teams and was renamed the National Basketball Association prior to the 1949-50 season. The Warriors claimed their second title in 1956, beating the Fort Wayne Pistons in a five-game series (4-1). In doing so, they completed one of the most dramatic turnarounds in NBA history, going from last place in the Eastern Division in 1954-55 to the penthouse one year later. Former Warriors player George Senesky, in his first full season as head coach, directed a well-balanced squad to an NBA-best 45-27 record, as every member of the starting five averaged double-figure scoring. Leading the way were NBA All-Stars Arizin (24.2 points and 7.4 rebounds) and Johnston (22.1 points, a league-leading .457 field goal percentage and 12.5 rebounds). In the championship series against Fort Wayne, Arizin averaged 29.0 points. In the deciding fifth game, Joseph Graboski led the way with a team-high 29 points.

Following their second championship campaign, the Warriors muddled through three seasons before striking gold prior to the 1959-60 campaign. Through a previous territorial draft, the Warriors held the rights to Philadelphia native Chamberlain, a 7-1, 275-pound giant with tremendous power and grace who would change the face of the game instantly and forever. As a rookie, Chamberlain averaged 37.6 points and 27.0 rebounds a game, shattering previous league highs. His powerful slam dunks and awesome numbers drew a record amount of fans not yet seen by the young league. Chamberlain coasted to the league's Rookie of the Year and Most Valuable Player awards. With Arizin, Woody Sauldsberry, Tom Gola and Guy Rodgers surrounding the superstar center, rookie Head Coach Neil Johnston and the Warriors cruised into the Eastern Division Finals where they fell to the powerhouse Boston Celtics. This series gave birth to one of the NBA's greatest rivalries, the clash of Chamberlain versus Bill Russell.

During the 1960-61 season, Chamberlain's numbers and reputation continued to grow, drawing huge crowds wherever the Warriors traveled. He averaged 38.4 points and hauled in 27.2 rebounds during this memorable season. The Warriors added a gritty, hard-nosed rookie guard by the name of Alvin Attles to the squad and returned to the playoffs only to be knocked off by the Syracuse Nationals.

The following season would be a record-setting year for "Wilt the Stilt." His 50.4 scoring average and 4,029 total points are records that have yet to be challenged. Chamberlain's season was highlighted on March 2, 1962, when he scored an unprecedented 100 points in a game against the New York Knicks.

Riding the backs of Chamberlain, Arizin, Attles and rookie Tom Meschery, the Warriors finished with a 49-31 record and met the Celtics again in the Eastern Division Finals. In a seven-game battle that saw Chamberlain swarmed by Russell and Celtic double and triple-teams, the Warriors lost (109-107) in Game 7. It would be the team's last game as the Philadelphia Warriors.

NOTES

- Rick Barry signed as a free agent with the Houston Rockets...In exchange, the Warriors received John Lucas and cash.
- Head Coach Al Attles won his 400th career game on 12/2/78 at Phoenix, a milestone achieved by only nine other coaches in NBA history at the time.
- Robert Parish blocked 217 shots, a Warriors team record at the time.
- Parish became the first Warrior since Nate Thurmond in 1969 to record 30 points and 30 rebounds in one game vs. New York on 3/30/79 (30 points/32 rebounds).
- John Lucas finished second in the NBA in assists (9.3).
- Team was the youngest in the league in both age (24.3 yrs.) and experience (2.3 yrs.).
- Purvis Short and Wayne Cooper were selected to the NBA All-Rookie Second Team.
- Team finished below .500 for the first time in nine seasons and in last place in the division, 14 games behind Seattle.

NOTES

- Head Coach Alvin Attles posted his 500th career coaching victory vs. Dallas on 1/2/82, a milestone only five other NBA coaches had reached at the time.
- Bernard King (eighth) and World Free (ninth) became the first Warriors duo to finish among the league's top 10 in scoring in the same season since 1960-61 (Wilt Chamberlain and Paul Arizin).
- Warriors' overall field goal percentage (.496) was a club record at the time.
- King was the first Warrior in four years to appear in the NBA All-Star Game.
- King was selected to the All-NBA Second Team.
- For the second straight year, the Warriors were one game short of qualifying for the playoffs.

NOTES

• Traded Mitch Richmond, Les Jepsen and a second-round draft pick in 1995 to the Sacramento Kings for the rights to Billy Owens on 11/1/91.
• Recorded their best regular-season record in 16 years (55-27) and a then-all-time best 24-17 (.585) road record.
• Maintained a winning record throughout an entire season for the first time in franchise history.
• Led the league in scoring for the second time in three years (118.7)...Mullin (25.6, third), Hardaway (23.4, sixth) and Marciulionis (18.9, 26th) ranked among NBA leaders in scoring and formed the league's top scoring trio (67.9).
• Mullin (first team) and Hardaway (second team) were named to the All-NBA Team.
• Prior to the season, Mullin was named to the 1992 U.S. Olympic "Dream Team."
• Don Nelson won the NBA Coach of the Year Award for an unprecedented third time.
• Owens was a unanimous pick for the All-Rookie Team.

NOTES

- Mullin was joined on the Western Conf team by Hardaway, giving the Warriors an All-Star duo for a third straight season.
- Hardaway, who finished 13th in the league in scoring (21.5) and second in assists (10.6), was named All-NBA Third Team, becoming the first guard in franchise history to make back-to-back appearances on the team.
- Sprewell, the first rookie in team history to total at least 1,000 points, 250 rebounds, 250 assists, 100 steals and 50 blocks, was named to the NBA All-Rookie Second Team.
- Warriors led the NBA in games missed due to injury or illness with 14 players sidelined for a total of 312 games.
- Team was awarded the third pick in the 1993 NBA Draft at the NBA Draft Lottery, selecting Anfernee Hardaway, then immediately trading his rights along with first-round picks in 1996, 1998 & 2000 to Orlando for the rights to Chris Webber, the number one pick in the draft.

NOTES

• Latrell Sprewell, at age 24, became the youngest Warriors player to start in an NBA All-Star Game since Rick Barry earned the honor as a 21-year-old rookie in 1966.

• Tim Hardaway finished the season as the only player in the league who averaged over 20.0 points and 9.0 assists (third in the league in assists with a 9.3 average).

• Chris Gatling became the first Warriors player since Wilt Chamberlain (1962-63) to lead the NBA in field goal percentage (.633), setting a team record.

• Donyell Marshall was acquired from Minnesota in exchange for Tom Gugliotta on 2/18/95, and was named NBA All-Rookie Second Team by the league's head coaches.

• Christopher Cohan became the sole owner of the Warriors by purchasing a 75-percent interest from a group of co-investors led by Jim Fitzgerald and Dan Finnane.

• Rony Seikaly was acquired from Miami in exchange for Billy Owens and the rights to Predrag Danilovic on 11/2/94.

• Tom Gugliotta and three future first-round picks were acquired from Washington in exchange for Chris Webber on 11/17/94.

• Don Nelson stepped down as head coach and general manager, Bob Lanier was named interim head coach and Ed Gregory was named director of player personnel on 2/13/95.

• On 5/21/95, the Warriors won the NBA Draft Lottery and used the first pick in the draft to select Joe Smith.

NOTES

- Relieved P.J. Carlesimo of his head coaching duties and named Garry St. Jean general manager/head coach (12/27).
- Acquired Larry Hughes and Billy Owens from Philadelphia as part of a three-team trade that sent John Starks and a 2000 first-round draft choice (Washington's) to Chicago, with Toni Kukoc going to the 76ers (2/16).
- Antawn Jamison's scoring average increase from 1998-99 to 1999-2000 (9.6 ppg to 19.6 ppg) was largest increase in the NBA.
- Hughes' scoring average after joining the Warriors (22.7) would have ranked 11th in the NBA projected over the entire season.
- Donyell Marshall became the first Warrior to average a point/rebound double-double since Larry Smith in 1984-85.
- The Warriors had 14 players miss 329 games due to injury (2nd in NBA), using a franchise-record and league-high 23 players.
- The Warriors led the NBA in offensive rebounding at 15.85 offensive rebounds per game.

NOTES

- Chris Mullin was named Executive Vice President of Basketball Operations on April 22, 2004.
- Mike Montgomery was hired as Head Coach on May 21, 2004, after an 18-year career at Stanford.
- Golden State finished 18-10 (.643) in 28 games after the arrival of Baron Davis in trade deadline day deal.
- Jason Richardson led the team in scoring (21.7 ppg, 15th in NBA) and was named Western Conference Player of the Week for the week ending March 20 -- becoming the first Warriors player to win the award since Tim Hardaway did so in November 1994.
- Baron Davis won back-to-back Player of the Week awards (April 3 & April 10), becoming just the eighth player to win consecutive weekly awards -- joining C. Drexler, M. Jordan, D. Robinson, K. Malone, A. Iverson, T. Duncan and K. Garnett.
- Troy Murphy averaged 15.4 points and 10.8 rebounds, ranking 5th in the NBA in rebounding and 10th in double-doubles (34).
- Adonal Foyle surpassed Joe Barry Carroll for top spot on team's all-time blocked shots list, finishing season with 965 career blocks.

NOTES

- Jason Richardson led the team in scoring (career-high 23.2 ppg, 13th in NBA) for the third consecutive season.
- Richardson established a then-franchise record with 183 three-point field goals made (Tim Hardaway, 168, 1994-95).
- Baron Davis averaged 17.9 points and a career-high 8.9 assists per game (2nd in NBA).
- Troy Murphy averaged 14.0 points and 10.0 rebounds, ranking 6th in the NBA in rebounding and 11th in double-doubles (34).
- Murphy was one of only six players in the NBA to average a point/rebound double-double for the season.
- Golden State was 12-17 in 29 games decided by five points-or-less, including 7-14 in games decided by three points-or-less.
- Warriors set a franchise attendance record for the fourth-straight season, averaging 18,273 fans per game (10th in NBA).

NOTES

- Warriors recorded their first winning season since 1993-94 and earned their first playoff appearance since 1994.
- Golden State finished campaign going 16-5 in its final 21 games, including a 9-1 record over the final 10 games of the season.
- After earning the #8 seed in the Western Conference Playoffs, Golden State knocked off #1 seed Dallas Mavericks -- becoming just the third #8 seed to knock off a #1, and the first since the First Round moved to a best-of-seven format.
- Baron Davis led the Warriors in scoring during the regular-season (20.1 ppg), while also leading the NBA in steals (2.14 spg) and ranking 5th in assists (8.1 apg). During the playoffs, he averaged 25.3 points, 6.5 assists, 4.5 rebounds and 2.91 steals.
- Monta Ellis was named the NBA's Most Improved Player, averaging 16.5 points after averaging 6.8 the previous season.
- On January 17, the Warriors acquired Stephen Jackson and Al Harrington as part of an eight-player trade with Indiana.
- Don Nelson returned for his second stint as Head Coach of the Warriors and led a team that ranked 2nd in the NBA in scoring.

NOTES

- Golden State's 48-34 record was the best for a non-playoff team since the NBA instituted the 16-team format in 1983-84.
- 48 wins were the team's most since 1993-94 and third most in the previous 32 seasons.
- 21-20 road record marked the team's second most road victories in the previous 33 seasons.
- Warriors led the NBA in scoring, averaging 111.0 points per contest, marking the fifth time team has paced the league since moving West in 1962 and the first time since 1991-92.
- Baron Davis (21.8 ppg), Monta Ellis (20.2 ppg) and Stephen Jackson (20.1 ppg) became the first NBA trio to all average more than 20 points since Chris Mullin, Mitch Richmond and Tim Hardaway did so for Golden State in 1990-91.
- Warriors established an all-time single-season franchise record in attendance, averaging 19,631 fans per game (capacity 19,596) and sold out 32 of 41 home games.

NOTES

- Golden State ranked second in the NBA in scoring, averaging 108.6 points per game.
- Stephen Jackson established career-highs in points (20.7), assists (6.5), rebounds (5.1) and minutes (39.6), and was one of only four players in the NBA to average at least 20 points, six assists and five rebounds.
- Anthony Morrow led the NBA in three-point field goal percentage, shooting 46.7% (86-184 3FG) to become the first rookie in NBA history and the first player in Warriors history to lead the league in three-point shooting.
- Jamal Crawford scored 50 points at Charlotte on December 20, becoming the first Warriors player to reach the half-century mark since Antawn Jamison did so twice in December of 2000.
- The Warriors had the youngest team in the NBA in 2008-09.

NOTES

- Monta Ellis averaged a career-high 25.5 points (6th best in NBA) to become the first Warriors player to average 25.0 points per game since Chris Mullin in 1991-92, and first to finish in NBA's top-10 in scoring since Antawn Jamison in 2000-01.
- Stephen Curry, who set a then-NBA rookie record with 166 three-pointers, was named Western Conference Rookie of the Month in January, March & April en route to All-Rookie First Team honors and a runner-up finish in NBA Rookie of the Year balloting.
- Ellis and Curry both ranked in the NBA's top-five in steals per game, finishing second (2.23) and third (1.90), respectively.
- The Warriors ranked second in the NBA in scoring (108.8 ppg), while leading the league in fast break points (23.7).
- Seven different players scored at least 30 points in a game (Azubuike, Curry, Ellis, Maggette, Morrow, Tolliver, Watson).
- Don Nelson finished the season with 1,335 career coaching victories, moving past Lenny Wilkens (1,332) for the top spot on the NBA's All-Time Head Coaching Victories list.

- The sale of the Golden State Warriors to an ownership group headed by Joe Lacob and Peter Guber was formally completed on November 12, 2010.
- Monta Ellis ranked 8th in the NBA in scoring (24.1 ppg), becoming the first Warrior to average at least 24.0 points in back-to-back seasons since Chris Mullin did so in five straight seasons from 1988-89 through 1992-93.
- Stephen Curry led the NBA in free throw percentage (.934), establishing a new franchise single-season record.
- Dorell Wright finished 3rd in voting for the Most Improved Player award after becoming the first player in NBA history to score more points in his seventh season (1,344) than he had in the first six years of his career combined (1,333).
- Wright led the NBA in three-point field goals made, connecting on a then-Warriors franchise record 194 three-pointers.
- David Lee ranked 7th in the NBA in rebounding (9.8) and in double-doubles (37).

NOTES

- Ranked second in the NBA in three-point shooting (.388) as a team, with four players finishing among the league's Top-20: Stephen Curry (.455, T2nd), Brandon Rush (.452, 6th), Richard Jefferson (.420, T12th) and Klay Thompson (.414, 17th).
- Klay Thompson was named First Team All-Rookie after ranking fourth among all first-year players in scoring (12.5 ppg), first in three-point percentage (.414) and second in free throw percentage (.868).
- Thompson started the final 28 games, averaging 18.6 points per game in those contests to lead all rookies over that stretch.
- David Lee became the first Warrior to average at least 20.0 points and 9.0 rebounds since Nate Thurmond in 1971-72.
- In separate deals just prior to the trade deadline, acquired center Andrew Bogut from the Milwaukee Bucks and Richard Jefferson from the San Antonio Spurs, while parting ways with Monta Ellis, Ekpe Udoh and Kwame Brown.
- Prior to the season named Mark Jackson as the 24th head coach in franchise history and 19th since the team moved West.

NOTES

- Under second-year Head Coach Mark Jackson, Golden State posted a 47-35 record and finished second in the Pacific Division.
- After earning the #6 seed in the Western Conference Playoffs, the Warriors knocked off the #3 seed Denver Nuggets in six games before extending the San Antonio Spurs to six games in the Western Conference Semifinals.
- David Lee, who led the NBA in double-doubles (56), earned a spot on the Western Conference All-Star Team and was named Third Team All-NBA, becoming the first Warriors All-Star since 1997 and first to earn All-NBA honors since the 1993-94 season.
- Stephen Curry ranked seventh in the NBA in scoring with a team-leading 22.9 ppg, established a new NBA record for three-pointers made in a season (272) and finished third in the league in three-point field goal percentage (.453).
- Klay Thompson connected on 211 three-pointers, which also surpassed the previous Warriors franchise record.
- Harrison Barnes earned First Team All-Rookie honors after averaging 9.2 ppg and starting all 81 games in which he appeared.
- In the Playoffs, Curry paced the Warriors by averaging 23.4 ppg, scoring 20-or-more points eight times in 12 postseason games.

NOTES

- Finished regular-season with a 51-31 record, marking the team's first 50-win season since 1993-94.
- Team earned its second consecutive playoff berth, marking first back-to-back appearances since the 1990-91 & 1991-92 seasons.
- Stephen Curry, who ranked 7th in the NBA in scoring (24.0 ppg), 5th in assists (8.5 apg) and 1st in three-point field goals (261), earned All-NBA Second Team honors and became first Warrior voted to start the NBA All-Star Game since 1995.
- Andre Iguodala was named NBA All-Defensive First Team, becoming first Warrior to earn recognition since Nate Thurmond in 1971.
- Klay Thompson and Curry formed the highest-scoring backcourt in the NBA (42.4 ppg) and combined to make more three-point field goals (484) than any teammate tandem in NBA history, besting their own record of 483 from the previous season.
- Warriors posted a 30-13 record when using opening night starting five of Curry, Thompson, Iguodala, David Lee and Andrew Bogut.
- In the Playoffs, Curry led the team in scoring at 23.0 ppg, as the sixth-seeded Warriors stretched the L.A. Clippers to seven games.

NOTES

- Established a then-franchise record for wins in the regular season, posting a 67-15 (.817) mark.
- Claimed the NBA Championship for the first time in 40 years, marking the fourth title in franchise history.
- 83 combined wins between regular season and playoffs was, at the time, third-most in NBA history.
- Team posted a 39-2 mark at home, 28-13 on the road, and a 16-game winning streak, all franchise records.
- Stephen Curry was named league MVP, joining Wilt Chamberlain as the only two players in franchise history to win the award.
- Draymond Green (First Team) and Andrew Bogut (Second Team) both earned NBA All-Defensive Team honors.
- Curry (First Team) and backcourt mate Klay Thompson (Third Team) earned All-NBA recognition and were both All-Stars.
- Andre Iguodala started the final three games of the NBA Finals after not starting all season and was named NBA Finals MVP.
- Steve Kerr posted the most regular-season victories by any first-year head coach in NBA history.

NOTES

- Established a new NBA record for most wins in the regular season, posting a 73-9 (.890) mark.
- Returned to NBA Finals for second-straight season, falling to Cleveland in seven games.
- Began the season 24-0, marking the best start to a season in major professional sports history.
- Established NBA-record by winning 54-straight home games dating back to previous season.
- Stephen Curry became the NBA's first-ever unanimous MVP selection, winning the award for the second-straight season.
- Curry (First Team), Draymond Green (Second Team) and Klay Thompson (Third Team) earned All-NBA recognition and were all members of the Western Conference All-Star Team...Green also earned First Team All-Defense honors.
- Steve Kerr was named NBA Coach of the Year, becoming the third coach in franchise history to win the award.
- As Kerr missed the first 43 games of season recovering from back surgeries, Assistant Coach Luke Walton guided team to 39-4 start.

Kaiser Permanente Arena

Santa Cruz, CA 95060

Shortly after purchasing the Golden State Warriors in November of 2010, owners Joe Lacob and Peter Guber vowed to improve the team's development of young players. In an effort to help that process, the Warriors purchased the Dakota Wizards franchise of the NBA Development League in the summer of 2011, forging a one-on-one relationship between the two clubs and giving the Warriors total control over the roster, coaching staff and business operations of the D-League team.

In the summer of 2012, the Warriors announced their intention to move the D-League team to Northern California and rebrand the club as the Santa Cruz Warriors. Having the team in close proximity to the parent club allows the Warriors to more easily monitor their players who are on assignment in the D-League, while also making it much easier for players and staff to travel between the two clubs.

On October 10, 2012, the NBA Development League officially approved the relocation of the club from Bismarck, ND, to Northern California for the 2012-13 campaign. In the matter of 78 days, the Warriors erected Kaiser Permanente Arena, a 2,500-seat facility located in downtown Santa Cruz, and were ready to play their inaugural season in Surf City.

The team, which is celebrating its fifth season in Northern California, made an instant connection with the Santa Cruz and central coast communities, playing its first four seasons in front of a passionate fan base that has averaged near-capacity crowds each game.

On the court, the Warriors advanced to the NBA D-League Finals in each of their first three seasons and won the 2015 D-League Championship. On the development side, Santa Cruz earned the 2013-14 NBA D-League "Development Champion" Award, which recognizes the D-League team that best embodies the league's goals of developing NBA basketball talent via GATORADE Call-Ups and assignments.

Off the court, the Santa Cruz Warriors were named the "Business of the Year" by the Santa Cruz Chamber of Commerce in 2016 for their contributions to building the economic vitality, prosperity and quality of life in Santa Cruz County.

CASEY HILL

Head Coach

Casey Hill is in his fourth season as head coach of the Santa Cruz Warriors, owning a career record of 83-67 (.553) in his first three years at the helm. Hill led the Warriors to their first-ever NBA D-League title in 2014-15, setting franchise records with 35 regular-season wins and 11-straight victories. In Hill's first year as head coach in 2013-14, he led the Warriors to a 29-21 regular-season record and an appearance in the D-League Finals.

Over the past three seasons, the Boerne, TX, native has coached nine Golden State Warriors during their assignments to Santa Cruz while developing five Warriors who earned a total of 15 GATORADE Call-Ups to the NBA. Hill and his staff played an integral part in the Santa Cruz Warriors earning the 2013-14 NBA D-League "Development Champion" Award, an annual honor that recognizes the team that best embodies the league's goals of developing NBA basketball talent via Call-Ups and assignments.

Before his promotion to head coach, Hill spent the previous two seasons as an assistant coach of the franchise, helping lead the Warriors to the D-League Finals during the 2012-13 campaign. In his first season as an assistant in 2011-12, he helped the Dakota Wizards finish at the top of the Eastern Conference.

Prior to joining the Santa Cruz staff, Hill worked under his father, longtime NBA coach Bob Hill, with the Tokyo Apache, a professional team in Japan. Hill is a graduate of Trinity University in San Antonio, where he was a member of the Tigers' basketball team. He resides in Capitola with his wife, Lizz, an artist who has shown her work at numerous venues in the Santa Cruz area.

ROSS McMAINS

Assistant Coach

Ross McMains is in his first season as assistant coach with the Santa Cruz Warriors. McMains, who was raised on Waiheke Island in New Zealand, spent last season as the head coach of the Taranaki Mountain Airs in New Zealand's top professional basketball league and as an assistant coach of the New Zealand Men's National Team. His coaching résumé also features stops in Italy, France, Latvia and China.

In addition to his international experience, McMains served as a special assistant with the Sacramento Kings in 2012-13, where he specialized in player development. He spent the following two years as an assistant coach with Sacramento's NBA Development League affiliate, the Reno Bighorns, where the club led the NBA D-League in scoring (133.1 points per game) and GATORADE Call-Ups to the NBA (7) in 2014-15.

McMains spends his summers in Santa Barbara, where he performs offseason workouts and skill analysis with players. Additionally, he provides weekly tutorials for Muho.tv, a China-based website.

KELLY PETERS

Assistant Coach

Kelly Peters is in his first season as assistant coach with the Santa Cruz Warriors and third season with the Warriors organization after spending the previous two years as an advance scout for Golden State.

Prior to joining the Warriors, Peters spent 14 years at his alma mater as an assistant coach at Torrey Pines High School in San Diego beginning in 2001, where he helped guide the school's basketball team to 10 league titles and two CIF Section titles. At Torrey Pines, Peters worked on the staff of Head Coach John Olive, a former NBA player who previously served as head coach in the college ranks at Loyola Marymount and is a member of the Villanova Hall of Fame. Peters also coached the Los Angeles-based Pump N Run AAU team that featured Warriors guard Klay Thompson.

A native of San Diego, Peters worked for Turner and CBS for four years, where he helped broadcasters, including Warriors Head Coach Steve Kerr and legendary play-by-play man Marv Albert, prepare for the NCAA Tournament.

WARRIORS NBA D-LEAGUE ASSIGNMENT & CALL-UP HISTORY

NBA players in the first three years of their careers may be assigned to their NBA D-League affiliate an unlimited number of times, according to the NBA Collective Bargaining Agreement. Additionally, players beyond the first three years of their NBA careers may be assigned to their NBA D-League affiliate with their consent and the consent of the National Basketball Players Association.

With the Warriors D-League team located in close proximity to the parent club, players in recent years have been assigned to the D-League not only for games, but also to get additional practice time.

The NBA D-League continues to grow, recording all-time highs for NBA player assignments (321) and players on end-of-regular-season NBA rosters with NBA D-League experience (174 players, 39% of all NBA players) in the 2015-16 season.

NBA Cares is the league's global social responsibility program that builds on the NBA's mission of addressing important social issues. NBA Cares programs and participants have provided more than 3.7 million hours of hands-on service and created more than 1,040 places where kids and families can live, learn or play in communities around the world. The NBA also engages more than 12 million youth annually, inspiring play and teaching the values of the game. NBA Cares works with internationally recognized youth-serving programs that support education, youth and family development, and health-related causes, including: Thurgood Marshall College Fund, Special Olympics, YMCA of the USA, Boys & Girls Clubs of America, UNICEF, the Make-A-Wish Foundation, Share Our Strength and GLSEN.

For more information about the NBA's latest community outreach efforts, please visit www.nba.com/cares.

WARRIORS
COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

The Warriors Community Foundation, the philanthropic arm of the Golden State Warriors, is committed to supporting educational equity for underserved Bay Area youth. Since its inception in 2012, the Foundation has awarded nearly $4 million in grants to local school districts and non-profits serving at-risk and vulnerable students. The Foundation's signature program is Hoops 4 Kids (warriors.com/kids), where Warriors achievements on the court directly benefit disadvantaged children.

The Foundation also rebuilds public basketball courts around the region. To date, more than 60 courts have been refurbished locally, helping to revitalize local communities with safe and clean places for families to enjoy the game of basketball.

Finally, the Foundation donates thousands of tickets each season to schools and nonprofits that serve low-income children, helping to share the joy and excitement of Warriors home games.

The Foundation is sustained by generous contributions from Warriors owners, players, partners, and fans.

Local children take part in a basketball clinic at an unveiling ceremony of the newly refurbished courts at Willie Brown Middle School in San Francisco's Bayview district.

WARRIORS IN THE COMMUNITY

The Warriors are committed to taking an active interest in the well-being of our community. We strive to develop life-long fans of the game of basketball through cause marketing programs and initiatives. We are dedicated to improving the quality of life for those that are underserved in our community.

GOLDEN STATE WARRIORS COMMUNITY PILLARS

EDUCATION: The Warriors educational programs and initiatives provide youth and young adults with a strong foundation to succeed in and beyond school. By focusing on literacy, STEM, college access and career readiness, the Warriors improve access to quality education for students and create greater pathways to successful careers.

HEALTH & FITNESS: The Warriors health and fitness programs inspire people to be fit, active and nurture healthy habits so they can have healthier, happier and more successful lives. By promoting physical fitness, nutrition education programs and providing access to healthy food, the Warriors improve the health and well-being of all.

CITIZENSHIP: The Warriors leverage our unique resources and assets, collaborate with local communities, and amplify their voices to direct essential resources to those in need and foster more active, engage citizens and healthy, vibrant communities.

READ TO ACHIEVE (EDUCATION)

Read to Achieve is an early literacy program designed to help young people develop a life-long love for reading. The Warriors Read to Achieve program brings the joy of reading year-round to Bay Area children through Reading Rallies, Reading Time Outs and other exciting literacy activities. This is conducted in partnership with Ross Stores, Reading Partners and local library systems. Over the course of the year, the Read to Achieve program will help to increase proficiency rates and decrease summer learning loss for over 35,000 Bay Area students.

WARRIORS YOUTH BASKETBALL

Since its inception in 2000, Warriors Basketball Camp, powered by Under Armour, has grown to meet the needs of aspiring young players all over the Bay Area. Last season featured 61 camp sessions with nearly 6,200 youth participating. In addition to general sessions, Warriors Basketball Camp also conducts a variety of specialty sessions, including high potential camps, skill development clinics, parent/child camps, shooting and guard clinics and Future Stars sessions for ages 5-8. Warriors Basketball Camp has expanded to offer sessions at multiple Bay Area locations, including Oakland, San Francisco, San Jose, San Ramon, Danville, Napa, Newark, Larkspur, Livermore, Mill Valley, Milpitas, Oakley, Concord, Campbell, Cupertino, Walnut Creek, South San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Cruz, Saratoga, Emeryville and Santa Rosa.

DRAYMOND GREEN OVERNIGHT GAMP
CSU MONTEREY BAY

Highlighting the Summer 2016 schedule were two overnight camps featuring Warriors All-Stars Draymond Green and Stephen Curry. Green's camp took place at CSU Monterey Bay and featured appearances and instruction from not only Green himself, but also teammates Stephen Curry and James Michael McAdoo. Curry's camp, now in its fourth year, took on a new twist in 2016 by moving locations and utilizing the beautiful facilities of BYU-Hawaii. This marked the first time Warriors Basketball Camp hosted a session outside of Northern California. The camp drew participants from all over the world, all of whom were treated to one-on-one time with the back-to-back NBA MVP. In addition to conducting lectures and participating in drills, Curry surprised campers by sharing meals with them in the dining center and making the rounds at the dorms to do some room checks.

Warriors Basketball Camp continues to be an exciting experience for youth, ages 5-17, of all skill levels and abilities, focusing on fundamental skill development and the importance of teamwork, dedication and sportsmanship. The camp also features guest appearances from current and former Warriors players and coaches. Several notable NBA figures made appearances this past year alone, including: current Warriors players Stephen Curry, Draymond Green, Ian Clark, Zaza Pachulia, Kevon Looney, James Michael McAdoo and rookie Damian Jones, along with former Warriors players Harrison Barnes, Marreese Speights, Festus Ezeli, Jim Barnett, Kelenna Azubuike and Adonal Foyle; WNBA Legend and two-time Olympic Gold Medalist Ruthie Bolton; and Warriors Basketball Camp alum and former Cleveland Cavalier Will Cherry.

The Junior Warriors Basketball League offers a unique basketball experience for Bay Area youth, ages 5-17. Through partnerships with local youth agencies, the Warriors are able to enhance existing leagues by providing special benefits for all participants, including reversible jerseys and shorts, headbands, certificates of participation and tickets offered at a savings for Warriors home games. The league also offers a Coaches Clinic, featuring the Warriors coaching staff, for all volunteer coaches participating in the program. The season is capped off with the Junior Warriors Classic hosted at Oracle Arena prior to a Warriors home game. Over 170,000 Bay Area youth have been able to participate in the Junior Warriors Basketball League since its inception in 2000. Last season over 10,000 youth participated in the program.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

ORACLE ARENA

On October 30, 2006, the Golden State Warriors and Oracle formally announced a naming rights agreement in which the Arena in Oakland was renamed Oracle Arena. The 10-year agreement also includes additional exclusive team sponsorship elements.

Oracle Arena is the premier entertainment venue in Northern California, and the agreement provides the world's largest enterprise software company with a variety of sponsorship opportunities with the Warriors, including exterior and interior signage, VIP customer/partner hospitality and various other amenities.

Oracle Arena plays host to 41 Warriors regular-season home games each season, as well as a spectrum of other events that include concerts and other family-friendly entertainment. The venue underwent a $140 million interior renovation in 1996 that increased basketball capacity by more than 4,000, to its current occupancy maximum of 19,596. A total of 72 luxury suites and other exclusive clubs were also added.

About Oracle: Oracle (NYSE: ORCL) is the world's largest enterprise software company. For more information, visit http://www.oracle.com.

PACKING WARRIORS GROUND

The Warriors enter the 2016-17 season having sold out 189 consecutive games (dating back to December 18, 2012 -- 155 regular-season and 34 postseason) which is the seventh-longest active streak in the NBA to start the season. The sellout streak also marks the team's longest since Oracle Arena was renovated prior to the 1997-98 season and the capacity was increased from 15,025 to 19,596.

The Warriors have averaged more than 18,000 fans per game for 11-straight seasons.

WARRIORS PRACTICE FACILITY

Opened in October of 1997, the Golden State Warriors Practice Facility is one of the finest training/office complexes in all of the NBA. Built atop Oakland's Convention Center Parking Garage, the two-story facility houses everything the organization needs to function on a day-to-day basis, including all of the team's training needs, as well as offices for the organization's employees.

The building has undergone a pair of major renovations in recent years, once again making the Warriors Practice Facility among the premier facilities in the NBA. In the summer of 2004, all basketball-related areas of the building underwent a complete renovation, including an expanded weight room and athletic training area, as well as upgraded locker rooms and a new players' lounge. The team's headquarters underwent another dramatic renovation in the summer of 2011 as new owners Joe Lacob and Peter Guber overhauled the office space and the public areas of the facility, giving the building a modern look and feel.

Some of the features include:

- 16,000-square feet of office space for all of the team's full-time employees, including offices for the coaching staff that overlook the court.
- 2 1/2 full-length NBA basketball courts, with 21,000 square feet of newly refurbished playing surface and eight baskets.
- A fully upgraded, state-of-the art weight room and medical treatment room featuring a whirlpool, sauna and steam room.
- A spacious, newly renovated players' locker room.
- A brand new players' lounge with large plasma televisions.
- New, separate locker rooms for the team's players, coaches and basketball operations staff.
- Remodeled and updated working space for all the team's employees.
- Large floor-to-ceiling images in the hallway outside the gym, featuring 26 historic players and coaches from the team's history, the franchise's six retired jerseys and small replicas of the franchise's four championship banners.

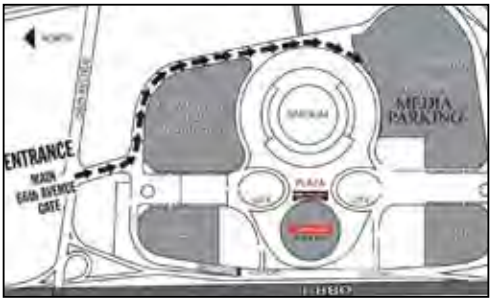
DIRECTIONS TO ARENA & PRACTICE FACILITY

DRIVING DIRECTIONS

To Oracle Arena (from San Francisco Airport): Exit airport and take US-101 North toward San Francisco for approximately 10 miles. Take I-80 East and cross the Bay Bridge. Take I-880 South towards San Jose. Take 66th Ave./Oakland Coliseum exit. Turn left to cross over the freeway and go in the first main parking entrance. Use the far left lane for media parking.

To Oracle Arena (from Oakland Airport): Exit via Airport Drive. Turn right onto Hegenberger Road. Follow Hegenberger Road for approximately two miles. Cross over the freeway and take a left at the first light. To reach the media parking entrance, follow the frontage road past Oracle Arena and parking lot to 66th Ave. Take a right on 66th Avenue and enter the parking entrance on the right. Go to the far left lane for media parking.



To Warriors Practice Facility (from San Francisco Airport): Exit airport and take 101 North toward San Francisco for approximately 10 miles. Take I-80 East and cross the Bay Bridge. Take 580/980 East exit toward Alameda/Downtown Oakland. Follow signs for 980/880 to Downtown Oakland. Take the 11th/12th Street exit. Pass through the first stop light and turn left onto 11th Street. Follow 11th Street for approximately four stop lights and enter the Oakland Convention Center Parking Garage on the right-hand side of 11th Street. Park on any level and take the Parking Garage elevator to the 5th Floor. Exit the elevator to the right and follow the long hallway to the practice court (halfway down hall) and the Warriors Executive Offices (one flight up at end of hallway).

To Warriors Practice Facility (from Oakland Airport): Exit airport via Airport Drive. Turn right onto Hegenberger Road and travel approximately two miles. Take I-880 North and travel toward Oakland. Take I-980/24 North exit toward Downtown Oakland and Walnut Creek. Take 11th/14th Street exit. Turn right at the first light and follow 11th Street for approximately four stop lights and enter the Oakland Convention Center Parking Garage on the right-hand side of 11th Street. Park on any level and take the Parking Garage elevator to the 5th Floor. Exit the elevator to the right and follow the long hallway to the practice court (half way down hall) and the Warriors Executive Offices (one flight up at end of hallway).

DIRECTIONS USING BART (BAY AREA RAPID TRANSIT)

Both Oracle Arena and the Warriors Practice Facility are located directly adjacent to BART stations. For train schedules, maps and additional information on the BART system, log onto www.bart.gov.

Oracle Arena: Exit at the Coliseum/Oakland Airport Station. Take the pedestrian overpass across the road and towards the Coliseum complex. At the end of the overpass, proceed to the left around the football/baseball stadium and continue heading west towards Oracle Arena. If you have credential already, proceed straight until you reach Parking Lot E, which is a fenced-in lot on the south side of the arena. Walk down into Parking Lot E and proceed until you reach the Media Entrance, which is located to the left as you approach the building. To reach Media Will Call for credential pick-up, head to the Oracle Arena Box Office, which is located between the arena and the stadium on the Plaza Level.

Practice Facility: Exit at the Oakland City Center/12th Street Station. Exit the station to the West and take the escalator up to 11th Street. Walk to the Oakland City Center Marriott located on the northwest corner of 11th and Broadway. Enter the Marriott hotel and proceed across the lobby and past the escalators to the Convention Center Lobby. Take the Parking Garage Elevator to the 5th Floor. Exit the elevator to the right and follow the long hallway to the practice court (halfway down hall) and the Warriors Executive Offices (one flight up at end of hallway).

CREDENTIALS: Requests for game-by-game credentials should be submitted via email to rridder@warriors.com and dmartinez@warriors.com AT LEAST 48 HOURS PRIOR to the game you wish to cover (2:00 p.m. on Friday for a Sunday or Monday game). NO CREDENTIAL REQUESTS WILL BE HONORED ON GAME DAY. Please make certain all requests for credentials are confirmed by the Public Relations Department prior to arriving at Oracle Arena. Credentials may be obtained three hours prior to each game at the Oracle Arena Box Office, located between the arena and the stadium on the Plaza Level. Additional Media Entrance for those with credentials is located inside parking Lot E on the south side of Oracle Arena. Credentials must be visibly worn at all times.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Limited (and assigned) space is available on the floor in one of four quadrants. Photographers and camera operators must only sit in assigned spots, as not all floor space is available for media use. ABSOLUTELY NO TRIPODS ALLOWED. Photographers must be seated, stationary within their assigned spot in the baseline media boxes at all times. Photographers are not permitted on the court at any time. Orders for strobe lights must be requested through the Warriors Public Relations Department.

Photo credentials will be issued in the same manner as other credentials, although requests should be submitted by the photo editor. It is club policy NOT to allow freelance photographers. Each photographer will be assigned a position by the Warriors Public Relations Department, either on the floor or in an elevated position, making it imperative that we are aware of your intentions to shoot a particular game. A photo (and seating) chart will be available in the Sam Skinner Media Room and on the back of each basket stanchion. Photographers located on the baseline will be permitted only one standard size "Domke" bag which must be placed behind the photographer during the game. Equipment not needed during the game must be stored off-court. One additional camera can be stored directly behind the photographer.

RUBBER LENS SHADES: In order to reduce the risk of injury to players, rubber lens shades are required for all still photographers, broadcasters, news and entertainment video and film crews who are authorized to shoot NBA game action. Any additional light sources must be either removed or covered with bubble wrap.

PARKING: Members of the media who have been issued season credentials will receive a parking pass to gain entry into the Oracle Arena parking lot. Those receiving single-game credentials will receive a parking pass via email by 12:00 p.m. on the day of the game. All media must park in Parking Lot B, located on the southeast side of Oracle Arena (entrance to any other location of the parking lot will not be reserved). Entrance to the Oracle Arena parking lot for media members will be through the left-most lane of the main entrance only, located on 66th Avenue.

THE SAM SKINNER MEDIA WORKROOM: The Sam Skinner Media Workroom is named after the late, beloved and respected Bay Area media personality. This room, which is open three hours prior to each game and features comfortable and large work areas for your convenience, is located on the lower level of Oracle Arena adjacent to the Courtside Club lobby.

MEDIA SEATING: Working media members will be seated in the following areas: scorer's table (TV broadcasts only); bays atop of sections 114 & 115 across from the scorer's table (Radio broadcasts only); bays atop of sections 101, 102, 127 & 128 behind the scorer's table; and bays atop of section 124 in the corner nearest the Warriors' player tunnel. A media seating chart for each game will be posted at the media entrance, in the Sam Skinner Media Workroom, and in each of the media seating areas.

PRE AND POSTGAME INTERVIEWS: In accordance with NBA policy, both the Warriors and visiting locker rooms will be open to accredited media members for a 30 minute period beginning 75 minutes prior to each game (6:15 – 6:45 p.m. for a 7:30 game) and 10-15 minutes following the conclusion of each game. Players and coaches are available for interviews at those times, although it is recommended that any interview lasting longer than a few minutes in duration be arranged in advance through the Warriors Public Relations Department (any live television pre or postgame interviews should also be arranged in advance through the PR Department). ONLY working media members with valid credentials will be admitted to the locker room. No still photography or filming of video, other than recording of player interviews, is permitted in either teams' locker room. Requesting AUTOGRAPHS OR SOUVENIR ITEMS FROM PLAYERS OR COACHES IS STRICTLY PROHIBITED AND SUBJECT TO FORFEITURE OF CREDENTIAL.

IN-ARENA WIRELESS INTERNET: The Warriors are happy to offer free wireless internet access inside Oracle Arena. For all smart phones, tablets & laptops, choose to connect to WarriorsGround, open a web browser and when the user agreement page comes up, choose to accept the agreement.

CELL PHONE USAGE IN LOCKER ROOMS: In accordance with NBA rules, no phone calls may be conducted by media members while in either the home or visiting locker rooms. Use of cell phones for still photography is prohibited in the locker rooms at all times.

GAME NOTES, STATISTICS & STATISTICIANS: Game notes and statistics are available in the Sam Skinner Media Room three hours prior to each game. Statistics are distributed to working media following each quarter. Postgame quotes and notes are distributed as quickly as possible following the conclusion of each game. Local statisticians are available to assist visiting television and radio broadcasters, and can be arranged by contacting the Warriors Public Relations Department several days in advance. Once a request is made, the statisticians must be compensated whether or not they are used.

PRACTICE POLICY: In general, practices – which will usually be held at the team's downtown practice facility – are closed to the media, with the exception of the end portion. Players and coaches will be available for interviews with accredited media members at the conclusion of each session. Interviews lasting longer than five minutes in duration should be scheduled in advance through the Warriors Public Relations Department. Please contact a PR staff representative to confirm practice times, sites and player availability.

INTERNATIONAL MEDIA POLICY: International media interested in covering NBA regular-season games must first submit a request in writing to the NBA league office. Please do not contact the Golden State Warriors directly. All credential requests must be received at least three business days prior to the first game requested. Photo identification will be required when picking up confirmed credentials at the media entrance. Requests must be sent to the attention of Mark Fischel (mfischel@nba.com). Additional information on international media policies may be obtained by calling the NBA league office (212-407-8000).
